Slow Filter

Q. Last July I ordered two camera lens filters from the Bass Camera Co. in Chicago. I received one but, to this date, have only excuses about the other filter. I've tried strongly-worded letters but to no avail. Can you help? B.L., Los Alamitos.

A. William T. Grant of the mail order camera firm, said that, because of an extensive backlog of the particular filter you wanted, shipment was delayed until Nov. 18, 1968. Grant said that on that date they shipped the filter to you first class mail insured parcel post. Since you didn't receive the merchandise, Grant said that he would initiate a postal tracer on it and, if nothing is turned up, will ship you another.

Bad Brake

Q. I am a mechanic but I didn't have the tools to change a universal joint on my car, so I took it to a local automobile repair shop. When my car was returned, the brakes didn't work right. The garage said the master cylinder needed an overhaul, but when I checked I found the self-adjusting brake linkage had been disconnected on one wheel. Where can I complain about this? M.G., Long Beach.

A. There is no state agency which specifically handles auto repair complaints, although legislation has been introduced to create one. You can send complaint letters to the California Attorney General's office, Consumer Fraud Unit, 217 W. First St., Los Angeles, Calif., the Better Business Bureau, 130 Pine Ave., 436-7249, and the Independent Garage Owners of Calif., Inc., 672 S. Lafayette Park Place, Los Angeles, Calif. 90057, attn: Peter Carberry, executive vice president. In the California Legislature, two bills which attempt to deal with the problems of fraudulent and incompetent auto repairs have been introduced. Senate bill 263, authored by Sen. Alan Short, D-Sacramento, would require anyone engaged in the business of automobile repairs to be registered with the state and all automobile mechanics to pass an examination and obtain a certificate. Senate Bill 786, authored by Sen. Anthony Bellenson, D-Los Angeles, would create a Bureau of Automobile Repair Services under the California Department of Professional and Vocational Standards and require automobile repair companies to register with the bureau.

Franchise Biz

Q. Where can I get information on current or upcoming franchise business exhibits and shows in this area? W.P., Long Beach.

A. The Franchise Journal, 892 16th St., Newport Beach, Calif. 92660, a trade magazine published twice a year, covers the entire franchise industry. They are sending you a subscription form. There are no franchise shows planned for Southern California this year but one is scheduled for the Thunderbolt Hotel adjacent to the San Francisco Airport Aug. 7-10. The next franchise show in the Southland will be the Los Angeles Franchise Show which will be held at the Ambassador Hotel, 3400 Wilshire Blvd. next January.

Navy Tankman

Q. Can you tell me about Cmdr. John Herbert Higgins, Naval Academy swim coach, who officiated as chief starter during the National AAU Swimming and Diving Championships in our Belmont Plaza Pool? Is it true that he once held 10 world and 21 national records and was an All-America and Olympic swimmer? J.G., Long Beach.

A. ACTION LINE talked with Cmdr. Higgins at the academy in Annapolis, Md., and he confirmed your information. He started to swim in competition in 1929. While a senior at Central High School in Providence, R.I., he set a high school record in the 200-meter butterfly which stood for 12 years. Between 1935 and 1940, he set world records in the 100-meter, 200-meter, 400-meter, 440-yard, 500-meter, and 500-yard butterfly and 300-yard individual medley. He also won 12 National AAU Championships. Higgins swam in the 1963 Olympic Games in Berlin, Germany, and came in fourth in the 200-meter breaststroke.

Itching Astronauts Get Ready for Long Trip Home

SPACE CENTER, HOUSTON, Saturday (UPI) — Apollo 10's path-finding astronauts, annoyed by scratchy bits of insulation floating free in their cabin, made their final orbits of the moon early today doublechecking navigational calculations vital to a landing in July.

A two-minute, 50-second firing of the command ship's big rocket engine this morning frees the craft from the pull of lunar gravity and starts the space fliers, Thomas P. Stafford, Eugene A. Cernan and John W. Young, on their three-day, 251,000-mile return trip to earth.

ABOARD USS PRINCETON (P)—The weatherman of this prime Apollo 10 recovery ship Friday predicted partly cloudy skies and fairly calm seas for the South Pacific splashdown Monday.

Their two "hill top" sweeps of the lunar surface, and their cool, methodic checking of America's moon-landing equipment virtually assured the nation of a full return on its $23.7 billion investment to be the first to put a man on the moon.

THE LANDING is scheduled for the Apollo 11 mission, set to begin July 16 and touch down on the moon July 20.

"Pretty satisfying. Pretty challenging," Cernan commented Friday when told that "everyone is raving about your performance."

Boy Drowns in Shallow Bath Water

Leo Louis Edmondson, 5, drowned in between five and nine inches of water in a bathtub at his home, 15922 Cornuta Ave., Bellflower, while his mother was in the kitchen feeding two other children Friday, sheriff's deputies reported.

Deputy Robert Nelson said the boy's mother, Karen, 23, found Leo face down in the water after he stopped talking to her while she fed her 3-year-old daughter and 9-month-old son.

Leo was pronounced dead on arrival at Studebaker Hospital.

Mrs. Edmondson, wife of Leo Louis Edmondson II, 28, said she placed Leo in the bathtub and left him alone for about five minutes to feed the other children.

She told deputies she was talking to the boy from the kitchen when he failed to respond to a question. She rushed to the bathroom and found him face down in the water, deputies said.

A machine gun, six M1 rifles and a Springfield rifle were found on the campus of North Carolina A&T State University after National Guardsmen cleared dozens of dissidents from university buildings Friday, it was reported by the Greensboro Emergency Control Center.

ONE GUARDSMAN was wounded as 600 troops swept across the predominantly Negro campus. Armored personnel carriers and aircraft backed up the troops. Police stood by just off campus.

Lt. Col. Barrie Davis, public affairs officer for the National Guard, said the troops received scattered sniper fire Friday morning. When asked if the guardsmen were trying to hit anyone as they returned fire, Davis replied, "I do not have an answer to that."

UC Academic Senate Backs Park Protests

BERKELEY (UPI) — The University of California's Berkeley faculty senate Friday threw its support behind the demand of demonstrators that the fence be removed from a controversial "People's Park."

The Academic Senate, representing the permanent faculty, also strongly condemned police actions during the demonstrations of the past week.

But the professors overwhelmingly rejected the demand of some dissidents that Chancellor Roger Heyns should be dismissed.

While nearly 1,000 members of the Academic Senate met in a campus hall, more than 1,000 students milled around outside, passing out a list of their demands which included removal of national guard troops, firing Heyns and amnesty for the more than 800 persons arrested.

Only a few minor confrontations between the Berkeley rebels and police occurred Friday. A march from the campus to "People's Park" was turned back by a line of California Highway Patrolmen, with seven persons arrested.

NATIONAL GUARD units continued to patrol streets around the campus.

Debate over the new Berkeley crisis intensified throughout the state. Berkeley city officials, school officials, faculty groups and student body groups at all nine campuses of the university were involving themselves in the dispute.

Sen. Alan Cranston, D-Calif., speaking in San Francisco, criticized use of guns and tear gas in the disorders.

Student groups were planning efforts to launch a statewide student strike next week.

Meanwhile Berkeley police disclosed that .22 caliber rifle and an unidentified electronic device were found in an automobile belonging to James Rector, 25, who suffered fatal buckshot wounds in the first day of the rioting.

The Academic Senate voted 642 to 95 for a resolution which said the current situation "has produced as irresponsible a police and military reaction to a civic disturbance as this country has seen in recent times." It called the aerial teargassing of the campus a "monstrous" act.

THE RESOLUTION called for withdrawal of "massive police and military presence on the campus" and urged "simultaneous" (Continued Page A-4, Col. 4)

DEMO BUDGET REVOLT Demand Slashes of $85.7 Million

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Assembly Democrats demanded Friday that $85.7 million be chopped from Gov. Ronald Reagan's budget and threatened to hold the record spending program hostage in exchange for tax reform and increased school aid.

The Democrats proposed their deepest cutback in welfare spending at $26.8 million and recommended abolition of 10 administration programs and offices. "We will hold up the budget until we get something worthwhile," Assembly Democratic Caucus chairman George Zenovich told a news conference where he and Assemblyman Robert W. Crown unveiled the proposed slashes in Reagan's $6.2 billion budget for the next fiscal year.

CROWN, ranking Democratic member of the budget-writing Ways and Means Committee, said, "We feel that if we save money here . . . then some of this money should go for school aid and probably for tax reform, areas that are begging for attention."

Meantime, members of a special committee named by Republican Assembly Speaker Robert T. Monagan indicated they had reached tentative and substantial agreement on a tax reform package. They said the program should be

POLL HAS YORTY GAINING STRONGLY

Associated Press

Los Angeles Mayor Sam Yorty has gained strongly on his challenger, City Councilman Thomas Bradley, in his bid for a third term, a poll commissioned by television station KNXT reported Friday night.

The poll, taken by the Field Research Corp., said Bradley was favored by 43 per cent of the voters questioned and Yorty by 38 per cent. Nineteen per cent were undecided.

IN APRIL, the Field poll had Bradley with 52 per cent, Yorty with 35 per cent and 13 per cent were undecided.

The station's political editor, Bill Ames, said the poll showed "a clear trend toward Mayor Yorty."

Bradley outpolled Yorty by 100,000 votes in the primary election April 1.

The survey showed Bradley, a Negro, was not as popular as Yorty among white voters. The figures there were: Yorty 45 per cent, Bradley 36 per cent, undecided 19 per cent.

AMONG BLACK voters, the poll showed Bradley 86 per cent, Yorty 2 per cent, and 12 per cent undecided.

The survey was taken Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday among 1,302 registered voters.

Arms Halt From U.S. Attacked

LIMA (AP) — Peru slammed the door Friday on a visit by Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and declared that U.S. military advisers should leave the country.

The decision came after U.S. Ambassador John Wesley Jones formally notified the government that Washington had suspended arms sales to Peru because of the seizures of American fishing boats.

RELATIONS between the United States and Peru's military-controlled regime have been at a low ebb for months because of the expropriation of an American-owned oil company and the fishing vessel seizures.

Actually the arms sales had been suspended in February, but neither side openly acknowledged the fact while negotiations were under way to settle their dispute. Washington news reports broke the first word earlier this week.

Asked if the military government had set a time for departure of the U.S. Army, Navy and Air Force missions, an official spokesman said: "They may leave from this moment, whenever they like."

The communique was drawn up at a cabinet meeting presided over by President Juan Velasco.

IT SAID: "The revolutionary government informs the people that today the Embassy of the United States has officially confirmed the decision of the government of that country to suspend the sale of military equipment to Peru."

"Consequently, the measures announced in the of-

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A House subcommittee, reacting to Peru's seizure of American fishing boats, will hold hearings June 4 and 5 on legislation that would prohibit imports of fish and fishery products from countries that seize such vessels.

Chairman Edward Garmatz, D-Md., of the House Merchant Marine and Fisheries Committee, Friday described the measure as "another phase of this committee's efforts to find a way to force Peru and other nations into respecting American fishermen and the American flag on the high seas."

County Studies Policy on Strikes by Employees

By BILL MAYER
From Our L.A. Bureau

The Board of Supervisors will decide Tuesday whether to make a strike of county employees cause for dismissal if they stay off the job three days.

The present rule on so-called "unauthorized absences" gives them 30 days to go back to work.

Personnel director Gordon T. Nesvig is recommending the change.

Some labor unions are expected to oppose it.

NESVIG WENT to the board Dec. 13 and suggested it was time to crack down. But about a month later the supervisors asked him to try to work something out that would be agreeable to the labor organizations. The meetings were not entirely successful.

"We met with all employee organizations who requested an opportunity to confer regarding the proposed revision," Nesvig reports. "While some had no objections or were non-committal, several unions opposed the change."

"They suggested that passage now would reflect an antiemployee organization sentiment and cast a cloud over good-faith county employee relations."

SOME UNION officials suggested the timing of the proposed crackdown is bad. It comes, they said, only a short time after adoption of an employee relations ordinance involving much of the trappings of collective bargaining.

Both sides are now feeling their way in this new situation.

On May 7 Nesvig, with these observations in mind, asked for a four-week continuance to re-view the situation.

What made up his mind, he said, was the series of work stoppages and demonstrations among hospital workers.

"A major employee organization," Nesvig noted, "issued a comment to the press that such action brings significant results."

THE CONCERTED "absences" involved members of Local 434 of the AFL Building Service Employees Union. Local 434 officials call their group the "County Employees Union."

Nesvig said he is convinced that an ordinance making a three-day unauthorized absence cause for payroll separation is the only way to guarantee stable operation of county services.

The ordinance, as drawn by County Counsel John Maharg, provides that striking three days "shall constitute an automatic resignation from county service."

Maharg believes the new rules are legally necessary.

"In my opinion," he said, "county employees do not have the right to strike."

HE BASES that view on the fact that the law does not say they may. For employees in private industry, Maharg points out, the strike privilege is spelled out in the statute books.

Some labor leaders, though, opposed in principle to the anti-strike ordinance, suggest it is not likely to be very effective.

"We can do a lot of good by calling our people out for one or two days," one said. He asked not to be quoted by name.

He said also that unauthorized absence does not necessarily cover some situations where workers in an agency stay away from work in numbers suggesting strike.

"After all," he said, "if people get sick and come back with doctors' certificates, that isn't an unauthorized absence."

4 Held in Police Car Bombings

By BILL HOMER
Staff Writer

Three men and a woman charged by the district attorney's office with complicity in the "vice bombings" that resulted in the destruction of six Long Beach police cars and a hand grenade raid on the city's garage, were arrested Friday.

Arrested at their homes were Robert Andre Bridgette, 31, of 1419 Myrtle Ave.; Gary Lee Corbett, 22, of 8731 Cherry Ave.; and Jane Ellen Finley, 25, of 2308 Myrtle Ave.

In addition, Charles F. Bridgette, brother of Robert, was served with an arrest warrant at the Wayside Honor Farm, where he currently is serving a term for a narcotics law violation.

ALL FOUR were charged with one count each of possession of bomb equipment, possession of a machine gun, violation of the state Health and Safety Code, and conspiracy to commit the violations charged against them in the warrants.

All but Charles Bridgette were arrested by Long Beach police intelligence division officers, led by Lt. Ray Henry.

Los Angeles Municipal Court Judge Nancy B. Goodman issued the arrest warrants and set bail on each of the suspects at $6,250 each.

All but Charles Bridgette were held at Long Beach jail pending arraignment at 10 a.m. Monday in division 40, Los Angeles Municipal Court, Division 40, in the Hall of Justice.

ON MARCH 26, Police Chief William J. Mooney told newsmen he believed the bombings were intended to deter officers from making vice arrests in the Central District.

Mooney vowed there would be no letup on the police department's war against prostitution and narcotics traffic in that area, and continuing investigations into the bombings, first of which occurred March 22, led to the arrests of Charles Bridgette and Corbett.

Further investigation into the bombings led to intelligence detail officers requesting the district attorney's complaints against the four arrested Friday.

BUDGET

ready for a floor vote in two weeks.

Crown charged at the news conference that Reagan presented a budget larded "in bureaucratic fat and other excesses." He said the governor was guilty of a "misallocation of priorities."

The Democrats proposed these major cuts in the budget, which must be approved by both houses of the legislature, and signed by Reagan before midnight, June 30:

—$28.8 million in welfare spending in anticipation that a federal freeze on aid for dependent children funds will be thawed and replace state funds.

—$15.4 million from the county school services fund because expenses charged to it for coordination of local programs should be financed from local funds.

—$10 million by increasing doctor fees under the state medical care program. Crown and Zenovich said the boost was not justified.

—$5.8 million for a new building at San Francisco State College on grounds that enrollment fell 59 percent since campus strife broke out.

Additionally, the Democrats demanded elimination of the world trade program, the Consumer Counsel, the Program and Policy Unit in Reagan's office, the Office of Planning, Department of Housing and Community Development, Colorado River Board and the State Cadet Corps.

Crown and Zenovich, stressing the cuts were agreed to in a caucus "general consensus," insisted the reductions "will not seriously affect the present level of any vital people-related services."

They said they were aimed "at top-level bureaucratic waste and questionable new expenditures that should be deferred until justification is forthcoming."

TEAMSTERS ACCUSED OF 'STRIKE ALL' PLAN

The Los Angeles Food Employers Council Friday accused the Teamsters Union of threatening to spread its strike against the soft drink industry here to the rest of the nation.

John Bacon, chief negotiator for the industry said that the threat was made directly to the employers after the Teamsters struck a Canada Dry plant in Berkeley.

The industry locked out all Teamster employees from bottling plant and delivery trucks on a "strike one, strike all" principle after the union originated a strike against the Canada Dry plants in Southern California.

The dispute between the Teamsters and the industry involves wages, control of employment, and employment of minorities.

SIRHAN'S IDENTITY GOOFED

SAN QUENTIN (AP) — A mistake was made when Sirhan Bishara Sirhan was checked into San Quentin Prison's death row after being secretly transferred here from Los Angeles Friday.

A mugshot taken on his arrival identifies the assassin of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy as "B. S. Sirhan," and Associate Warden James Park was asked whether the goof would be corrected.

"Not right away," he said. "We've got plenty of time."

Solons Eye Tax From Churches

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A bipartisan informal committee of Assembly tax experts Friday neared agreement on a $1-billion tax reform program that would include taxing the business interests of churches.

Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, chairman of the Revenue and Taxation Committee, said that during a seven-hour meeting Thursday night the six-member panel agreed to extend tax relief for residential property owners.

Bagley would not disclose the figures for financing the tax reform plan but other sources said it probably would include some increase in the state income tax, an increase in the sales tax, withholding of income tax payments, a hike in the bank and corporation tax, a statewide tax on utilities, a statewide property tax and the tax on businesses owned by churches.

'TOO SICK TO BE CORONER'

Noguchi Was Offered New Job

By MARY NEISWENDER
Staff Writer

Ousted County Coroner Thomas T. Noguchi was too mentally ill to be county coroner but not too sick to be chief pathologist at one of the county's largest hospitals, Linden S. Hollinger, the county's chief administrative officer, testified Friday.

Hollinger, who said he recommended to the supervisors that Dr. Noguchi be discharged and then offered him the pathologist's job at Downey's Rancho Los Amigos Hospital, was the chief prosecution witness as the hearing into the ouster ended its second week.

Hearing the case is a three-member Board of Civil Service Commissioners whose job will be to decide whether the Japanese-born medical man is "erratic" as charged and unable to administer the county coroner's office.

Hollinger, a county employee for the past 44 years, testified he personally told each supervisor the day Dr. Noguchi was fired that the doctor was a "sick man."

The job at Rancho Los Amigos, the administrator admitted, would deal "with the living instead of the dead" and be at the same rate of pay as Dr. Noguchi received as coroner — $31,104.

"I felt he was mentally ill, but still a qualified pathologist and could perform in the hospital post... but he was too mentally ill to be coroner."

"Actually," the gray-haired Hollinger claimed, "we offered him the job to protect his livelihood and reputation."

Under cross-examination

by defense counsel Godfrey Isaac, Hollinger said he decided "something was drastically wrong with the administration of the coroner's office" before he conducted a full investigation.

His views, he said, were strong enough so that he did not give a car which had been delivered for Dr. Noguchi to the then-coroner and "likewise did not allow a trip Dr. Noguchi had requested to a medical meeting in Chicago."

Earlier, Hollinger said he fired Dr. Noguchi on the basis of statements of five of the 130 people on the coroner's staff.

"Mr. McRoy (Herbert McRoy, Dr. Noguchi's administrative deputy and chief prosecution witness) indicated the administration of the department was not in good shape," Hollinger testified. "Dr. Noguchi relied heavily on McRoy — McRoy was the key person in keeping the department going, but the matter of administration is still Dr. Noguchi's responsibility."

The hearing is expected to continue for at least two more weeks with at least 50 defense witnesses scheduled to testify.

'Mass Psychosis' Claimed for Presidio Defendants

FORT ORD (UPI) — The final defense witness in the mutiny trial of 14 San Francisco Presidio stockade inmates testified Friday that the defendants all suffered from "mass psychosis" and were "nigerized" in prison.

Dr. Price Cobbs, the distinguished psychiatrist and Negro author of the best-seller "Black Rage," said of the defendants:

"THESE ARE KIDS who run from situations. They're not mutineers, but kids who go AWOL. They run away from problems. They don't try to take over any authority. In ordinary times every one of them would have been rejected by the military service."

Cobbs said the 14 were "childish boys trying to play like men" who felt oppressed, powerless and brutalized in the stockade. "They were nigerized in the stockade," Cobbs said. "They reacted like black people. They sat down and sang 'We Shall Overcome.' That probably was the first time in their lives they ever sang that song."

Cobbs said the defendant Pvt. Richard Gentile was "a loner and a loser" who was, in effect, running from his problems when he joined the sit-down demonstration last Oct. 14.

Following Cobbs testimony, the Army began its rebuttal with two soldiers flown to the trial from Vietnam and Germany.

Ap Bia Mountain Fighting Continues

Combined News Services

SAIGON — North Vietnamese troops Friday fired rockets into a Shau Valley where a U.S. artillery base has been set up and skirmished with American paratroopers near Ap Bia Mountain. Although a battalion of the U.S. 101st Airborne Division drove the North Vietnamese from Ap Bia Mountain Tuesday, it was evident enemy troops had not abandoned the area. In the latest series of skirmishes around Ap Bia Mountain, 11 North Vietnamese and 2 Americans were killed. Several U.S. paratroopers were wounded. In the battle for Ap Bia, 616 North Vietnamese soldiers and 46 Americans were killed, the spokesman reported. American wounded totaled 308.

Airman Swipes Air Transport
LONDON — A U.S. ground crew chief swiped a four-engine C-130 Hercules troop transport after a night of drinking and flew it out of England Friday, the U.S. 3rd Air Force said. About 12 hours later, the Air Force announced the turbo-prop craft is presumed down at sea, out of fuel. The 60-ton aircraft was taken from Mildenhall Air Base by Sgt. Paul A. Meyer, 23, of Popquoson, Va.

Vote Favors Death Penalty
BLACKPOOL — More than 1,000 police delegates voted Friday to bring back the death penalty in Britain. Members of the Police Federation's annual conference stamped their feet and cheered when the result of the vote was announced. Parliament abolished hanging in 1965.

Common Market Pledge
PARIS — Gaullist candidate Georges Pompidou told Frenchmen Friday that if they elect him president next month he will seek a Common Market summit meeting to study Britain's membership application and breathe fresh life into European unity.

Partial Withdrawal Hinted
PRAGUE — Two top Soviet officials, one involved in military matters and the other in economic planning, were in Prague Friday, conferring with Czechoslovak Communist party leaders. Presence of the two men followed rumors that discussions on a partial withdrawal of Soviet occupying forces and a loan to aid the nation's sagging economy were likely before the start of the world Communist summit in Moscow June 5.

Midcast Truce Breach
MIDEAST — Israel reported a rocket attack from Jordan Friday and said an Israeli soldier was wounded in another breach of Middle East truce lines. Jordan asked the U.N. Security Council to end Israeli forays into its territory.

HIPPO, CAR COLLIDE—2 DIE

LUSAKA — An American accountant and a hotel housekeeper died when their car collided with a hippopotamus, Zambian officials said Friday. John Lynch, 31, of East Bridgewater, Mass., and Miss Anne Luikonen of Lyvinkka, Zambia, were trapped in the car which burst into flames Wednesday night, the officials said.

The accident occurred on a road about five miles from Victoria Falls, they said. The car struck the 3-ton hippopotamus which had wandered onto the road.

The hippopotamus, apparently uninjured, ran away after the crash, the officials said. Lynch was an accountant at the Msi-O-Tunya International Hotel and Miss Luikonen was a housekeeper there.

Russ Newsman Gets Kicked Out of U.S.

WASHINGTON — The United States, in an apparent change of policy ordered a Soviet newsman Friday to leave the country in retaliation for the expulsion of Anatole Shub, Moscow correspondent of the Washington Post. Carl Barich, the State Department press officer, said the Soviet reporter, Victor Kopytin of the Tass news agency, is required to leave the United States in 48 hours. "This action," Barich said at a news conference, "is taken in direct reciprocity for the expulsion of Anatole Shub of the Washington Post from the Soviet Union." Barich told reporters that Kopytin's expulsion was the first U.S. response in kind in years to expulsion of U.S. reporters from the Soviet Union, and represents a change in policy.

Hunger Charge Denied
WASHINGTON — The House Appropriations Committee discounted Friday some reports of widespread hunger and malnutrition. But it said hungry people should be given more help. In a report accompanying a $6.8-billion appropriation bill for the Agriculture Department, the committee said the agency should "locate hungry people anywhere in the U.S." and try to help them. Funds in the bill slated for House action next week include $651 million to fight hunger and malnutrition.

Douglas 'Should Have Quit'
WASHINGTON — Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas resigned Friday as the paid president of the Albert Parvin Foundation under fresh fire from Congress over its links with Las Vegas gambling casinos. Congressmen pushed ahead with demands for a probe of Douglas's outside income, and Rep. H. R. Gross, R-Iowa, said the justice should have resigned from the Supreme Court instead. Douglas refused to comment.

Tornado, Hail Rake Dixie
CHICAGO — Small hail was reported in five Southern states and a tornado touched down briefly in South Carolina Friday as thundershower activity swept the south. The tornado touched down on a farm about 30 miles south of Charlotte, N.C., damaging a barn and several other outbuildings. Hail was reported in Texas, Arkansas, Georgia, South Carolina, and Mississippi. In Greenwood, Miss., golfball size hail fell about 20 miles southwest of the city and destroyed crops. Augusta, Ga., had nearly an inch of rain and small hail during afternoon thundershowers. There also was some shower activity in parts of the Midwest. Georgetown, in northwest Minnesota, reported three-quarter inches of rain and one-half inch of hail.

The Senate confirmed Friday a new ambassador to Argentina who had flunked Sen. J. William Fulbright's test on current events in that nation. By a voice vote and without any objections, the Senate approved the designation of John Davis Lodge to the Buenos Aires post.

Under questioning by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee last Tuesday, Lodge said he thought the regime of Gen. Juan Carlos Ongania was chosen in a general election. The Ongania government actually came to power through a military coup in 1966. The official transcript of the Lodge hearing was made available Friday. It showed that the questioning of Lodge by Chairman J. William Fulbright went this way:

Fulbright: "Is that a military government in Argentina now?"

Lodge: "Well, it would be hard to characterize it one way or another because the president is a general."

Fulbright: "Was he elected? I do not remember."

Lodge: "He was elected, as I understand it; yes, sir."

Fulbright: "In a general election? I do not remember whether it was or not."

Lodge: "I think it was a general election. I am not as familiar with this as I expect to be once I get there. There is no legislature, as I understand it."

Fulbright: "There is no legislature?"

Lodge: "That is my understanding."

Fulbright: "They dispensed with the Senate and House?"

Lodge: "I understand so."

Fulbright: "That is a pretty good idea, is it not? I think we might do better, don't you?"

At this point, the record of the hearing states "laughter."

FINCH AT OXY

Robert H. Finch, Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, paid a surprise visit to Occidental College Friday. The cabinet officer had two reasons for dropping in at his alma mater. One was to see his daughter, Maureen, a freshman. The other was to attend an all-college forum at which the military draft, the military in modern society and military recruiting on campus were discussed.

CHARLES SIZE

Former French President Charles de Gaulle, taking his special king-size bed with him, moved out of his vacation retreat in Snecm Friday to another hotel on the Irish west coast. Accompanied by French and Irish detectives, De Gaulle, his wife and aides drove from the Heron Cove Hotel in Snecm, where they had spent 14 days, to the Cashel House in Carna, County Galway. Trailing De Gaulle were two trucks carting his belongings. One of them carried the extra long bed that had been supplied for him by the Irish Board of Works after he complained he couldn't sleep well in a short one.

CHARLES SIZE

Former French President Charles de Gaulle, taking his special king-size bed with him, moved out of his vacation retreat in Sneem Friday to another hotel on the Irish west coast. Accompanied by French and Irish detectives, De Gaulle, his wife and aides drove from the Heron Cove Hotel in Sneem, where they had spent 14 days, to the Cashel House in Carna, County Galway. Trailing De Gaulle were two trucks carting his belongings. One of them carried the extra long bed that had been supplied for him by the Irish Board of Works after he complained he couldn't sleep well in a short one.

County Studies Policy on Strikes by Employees

By BILL MAYER
From Our L.A. Bureau

The Board of Supervisors will decide Tuesday whether to make a strike of county employees cause for dismissal if they stay off the job three days.

The present rule on so-called "unauthorized absences" gives them 30 days to go back to work.

Personnel director Gordon T. Nesvig is recommending the change.

Some labor unions are expected to oppose it.

NESVIG WENT to the board Dec. 13 and suggested it was time to crack down. But about a month later the supervisors asked him to try to work something out that would be agreeable to the labor organizations. The meetings were not entirely successful.

"We met with all employee organizations who requested an opportunity to confer regarding the proposed revision," Nesvig reports. "While some had no objections or were non-committal, several unions opposed the change."

"They suggested that passage now would reflect an antiemployee organization sentiment and cast a cloud over good-faith county employee relations."

SOME UNION officials suggested the timing of the proposed crackdown is bad. It comes, they said, only a short time after adoption of an employee relations ordinance involving much of the trappings of collective bargaining.

Both sides are now feeling their way in this new situation.

On May 7 Nesvig, with these observations in mind, asked for a four-week continuance to review the situation.

What made up his mind, he said, was the series of work stoppages and demonstrations among hospital workers.

"A major employee organization," Nesvig noted, "issued a comment to the press that such action brings significant results."

THE CONCERTED "absences" involved members of Local 434 of the AFL Building Service Employees Union. Local 434 officials call their group the "County Employees Union."

Nesvig said he is convinced that an ordinance making a three-day unauthorized absence cause for payroll separation is the only way to guarantee stable operation of county services.

The ordinance, as drawn by County Counsel John Maharg, provides that striking three days "shall constitute an automatic resignation from county service."

Maharg believes the new rules are legally necessary.

"In my opinion," he said, "county employees do not have the right to strike."

HE BASES that view on the fact that the law does not say they may. For employees in private industry, Maharg points out, the strike privilege is spelled out in the statute books.

Some labor leaders, though opposed in principle to the anti-strike ordinance, suggest it is not likely to be very effective.

"We can do a lot of good by calling our people out for one or two days," one said. He asked not to be quoted by name.

He said also that unauthorized absence does not necessarily cover some situations where workers in an agency stay away from work in numbers suggesting strike.

"After all," he said, "if people get sick and come back with doctors' certificates, that isn't an unauthorized absence."

SIRHAN'S IDENTITY GOOFED

SAN QUENTIN (AP) — A mistake was made when Sirhan Bishara Sirhan was checked into San Quentin Prison's death row after being secretly transferred here from Los Angeles Friday.

A mugshot taken on his arrival identifies the assassin of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy as "B. S. Sirhan," and Associate Warden James Park was asked whether the goof would be corrected.

"Not right away," he said. "We've got plenty of time."

Solons Eye Tax From Churches

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A bipartisan informal committee of Assembly tax experts Friday neared agreement on a $1-billion tax reform program that would include taxing the business interests of churches.

Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, chairman of the Revenue and Taxation Committee, said that during a seven-hour meeting Thursday night the six-member panel agreed to extend tax relief for residential property owners.

Bagley would not disclose the figures for financing the tax reform plan but other sources said it probably would include some increase in the state income tax, an increase in the sales tax, withholding of income tax payments, a hike in the bank and corporation tax, a statewide tax on utilities, a statewide property tax and the tax on businesses owned by churches.

'TOO SICK TO BE CORONER'

Noguchi Was Offered New Job

By MARY NEISWENDER
Staff Writer

Ousted County Coroner Thomas T. Noguchi was too mentally ill to be county coroner but not too sick to be chief pathologist at one of the county's largest hospitals, Linden S. Hollinger, the county's chief administrative officer, testified Friday.

Hollinger, who said he recommended to the supervisors that Dr. Noguchi be discharged and then offered him the pathologist's job at Downey's Rancho Los Amigos Hospital, was the chief prosecution witness as the hearing into the ouster ended its second week.

Hearing the case is a three-member Board of Civil Service Commissioners whose job will be to decide whether the Japanese-born medical man is "erratic" as charged and unable to administer the county coroner's office.

Hollinger, a county employee for the past 44 years, testified he personally told each supervisor the day Dr. Noguchi was fired that the doctor was a "sick man."

The job at Rancho Los Amigos, the administrator admitted, would deal "with the living instead of the dead" and be at the same rate of pay as Dr. Noguchi received as coroner — $31,104.

"I felt he was mentally ill, but still a qualified pathologist and could perform in the hospital post... but he was too mentally ill to be coroner."

"Actually," the gray-haired Hollinger claimed, "we offered him the job to protect his livelihood and reputation."

Under cross-examination

by defense counsel Godfrey Isaac, Hollinger said he decided "something" was drastically wrong with the administration of the coroner's office" before he conducted a full investigation.

His views, he said, were strong enough so that he did not give a car which had been delivered for Dr. Noguchi to the then-coroner and "likewise did not allow a trip Dr. Noguchi had requested to a medical meeting in Chicago."

Earlier, Hollinger said he fired Dr. Noguchi on the basis of statements of five of the 130 people on the coroner's staff.

"Mr. McRoy (Herbert McRoy, Dr. Noguchi's administrative deputy and chief prosecution witness) indicated the administration of the department was not in good shape," Hollinger testified. "Dr. Noguchi relied heavily on McRoy — McRoy was the key person in keeping the department going, but the matter of administration is still Dr. Noguchi's responsibility."

The hearing is expected to continue for at least two more weeks with at least 50 defense witnesses scheduled to testify.

'Mass Psychosis' Claimed for Presidio Defendants

FORT ORD (UPI) — The final defense witness in the mutiny trial of 14 San Francisco Presidio stockade inmates testified Friday that the defendants all suffered from "mass psychosis" and were "nigerized" in prison.

Dr. Price Cobbs, the distinguished psychiatrist and Negro author of the best-seller "Black Rage," said of the defendants:

"THESE ARE KIDS who run from situations. They're not mutineers, but kids who go AWOL. They run away from problems. They don't try to take over any authority. In ordinary times every one of them would have been rejected by the military service."

Cobbs said the 14 were "childish boys trying to play like men" who felt oppressed, powerless and brutalized in the stockade. "They were nigerized in the stockade," Cobbs said. "They reacted like black people. They sat down and sang 'We Shall Overcome.' That probably was the first time in their lives they ever sang that song."

Cobbs said the defendant Pvt. Richard Gentile was "a loner and a loser" who was, in effect, running from his problems when he joined the sit-down demonstration last Oct. 14.

Following Cobbs' testimony, the Army began its rebuttal with two soldiers flown to the trial from Vietnam and Germany.

4 Held in Police Car Bombings

By BILL HOMER
Staff Writer

Three men and a woman charged by the district attorney's office with complicity in the "vice bombings" that resulted in the destruction of six Long Beach police cars and a hand grenade raid on the city's garage, were arrested Friday.

Arrested at their homes were Robert Andre Bridgette, 31, of 1419 Myrtle Ave.; Gary Lee Corbett, 22, of 6731 Cherry Ave.; and Jane Ellen Finley, 25, of 2308 Myrtle Ave.

In addition, Charles F. Bridgette, brother of Robert, was served with an arrest warrant at the Wayside Honor Farm, where he currently is serving a term for a narcotics law violation.

ALL FOUR were charged with one count each of possession of bomb equipment, possession of a machine gun, violation of the state Health and Safety Code, and conspiracy to commit the violations charged against them in the warrants.

All but Charles Bridgette were arrested by Long Beach police intelligence division officers, led by Lt. Ray Henry.

Los Angeles Municipal Court Judge Nancy B. Goodman issued the arrest warrants and set bail on each of the suspects at $6,250 each.

All but Charles Bridgette were held at Long Beach jail pending arraignment at 10 a.m. Monday in division 40, Los Angeles Municipal Court, Division 40, in the Hall of Justice.

ON MARCH 26, Police Chief William J. Mooney told newsmen he believed the bombings were intended to deter officers from making vice arrests in the Central District.

Mooney vowed there would be no letup on the police department's war against prostitution and narcotics traffic in that area, and continuing investigations into the bombings, first of which occurred March 22, led to the arrests of Charles Bridgette and Corbett.

Further investigation into the bombings led to intelligence detail officers requesting the district attorney's complaints against the four arrested Friday.

ready for a floor vote in two weeks.

Crown charged at the news conference that Reagan presented a budget larded "in bureaucratic fat and other excesses." He said the governor was guilty of a "misallocation of priorities."

The Democrats proposed these major cuts in the budget, which must be approved by both houses of the legislature and signed by Reagan before midnight June 30:

—$26.8 million in welfare spending in anticipation that a federal freeze on aid for dependent children funds will be thawed and replace state funds.

—$15.4 million from the county school services fund because expenses charged to it for coordination of local programs should be financed from local funds.

—$10 million by increasing doctor fees under the state medical care program. Crown and Zenovich said the boost was not justified.

—$5.8 million for a new building at San Francisco State College on grounds that enrollment fell 59 per cent since campus strife broke out.

Additionally, the Democrats demanded elimination of the world trade program, the Consumer Counsel, the Program and Policy Unit in Reagan's office, the Office of Planning, Department of Housing and Community Development, Colorado River Board and the State Cadet Corps.

Crown and Zenovich, stressing the cuts were agreed to in a caucus "general consensus," insisted the reductions "will not seriously affect the present level of any vital people-related services."

They said they were aimed "at top-level bureaucratic waste and questionable new expenditures that should be deferred until justification is forthcoming."

TEAMSTERS ACCUSED OF 'STRIKE ALL' PLAN

The Los Angeles Food Employers Council Friday accused the Teamsters Union of threatening to spread its strike against the soft drink industry here to the rest of the nation.

John Bacon, chief negotiator for the industry said that the threat was made directly to the employers after the Teamsters struck a Canada Dry plant in Berkeley.

The industry locked out all Teamster employees from bottling plant and delivery trucks on a "strike one, strike all" principle after the union originated a strike against the Canada Dry plants in Southern California.

The dispute between the Teamsters and the industry involves wages, control of employment, and employment of minorities.

'LINDY' REMEMBERS MOON TALK IN 1929

WASHINGTON (AP) — Charles A. Lindbergh, "The Lone Eagle" of pioneer aviation, says rocket pioneer Robert Goddard told him in 1929 a moon voyage was theoretically possible but economically improbable.

In a rare public utterance, with reporters and news photographers barred, Lindbergh philosophized about the future of American aviation and reminisced about Goddard.

He said Goddard told him it was possible to send a multi-stage rocket to the moon.

"THEN HE SMILED a little bit and said it might cost a million dollars, and, of course, that was out," Lindbergh recalled.

In the U.S. budget for fiscal year 1969 alone, the Apollo moon landing program is estimated to cost $2.3 billion.

ASTRONAUTS

craft "Snoppy" that carried Stafford and Cernan through the crucial eight-hour landing rehearsal was jettisoned early Friday from the "Charlie Brown" command ship and fired off into orbit around the sun.

"I just saw 'Snoppy' disappear in a big snow storm going straight up into the sun," Stafford told Earth Control. The "snow" was bits of insulation dislodged by the blast.

Possibly because they did not want to give ground control any thoughts about altering their mission, the Apollo 10 pilots complained for the first time Friday about the woolly pieces of spun fiberglass that also got loose in their spaceship from some torn insulation batting.

"WE'VE BEEN itching and scratching for the last four days," said Stafford, the spacecraft commander. "We've just been sneezing and coughing," he added.

Jack Lousma, ground communicator, told Stafford, a native Oklahoman,

"Sounds like living in the dustbowl of Oklahoma."

"Yeah," he had good training," quipped Cernan.

Later Stafford indicated the crew had at least partially brought the problem under control, probably by catching some of the insulation and stuffing it into bags. "It's not that way now, Jack. It's beautiful now, Jack," he said.

Besides taking refining lunar navigation figures, the three pilots radioed back more descriptions of intriguing features of the moon's surface. Stafford said one crater he sighted would be OF PARTICULAR INTEREST TO GEOLOGISTS.

"THE BOULDERS that have been kicked out look like a forest of pine trees," Stafford said referring to the debris scattered on the half surface by meteoroid bombardment. "These big black boulders look like pine trees up on a mountain ridge."

The chief reason for having the astronauts continue in lunar orbit Friday was to give them an extra day to check out the irregularities in the moon's gravitational pull.

Scientists do not know what causes these gravity quirks. Theories range from concentrations of heavy material hidden beneath the lunar surface, to variations in the shape of the moon itself.

Precise information on where these variations are located, and how they affect a spacecraft, is needed to enable moon landing pilots to fly accurately to the preselected landing sites.

The Apollo 8 crew, the first to orbit the moon, found that the calculations, that man had figured out on earth were so inaccurate that if they had planned to land on the moon, their touchdown would have been as much as 30,000 feet — more than five miles — off target.

Using newly revised calculations, the Apollo 10 astronauts already have narrowed down this error to about 2,500 feet — about half a mile — and still further refinement is anticipated from the current flight.

BECAUSE of the errors, project officials have doubled the length of the oval target site prepared for the Apollo 11 landing flight. The original site was three miles wide and five miles long. It has now been extended to a length of about 10 miles.

By comparison with the frightening problem that occurred Thursday when a violent vibration developed in the lunar landing module, only one minor abnormality was reported Friday. It concerned one of the moonship's three fuel cell power generators, and the astronauts got around the problem by changing power switches and circuit breakers.

Ask Nixon to Probe Beatings

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Eight city councilmen asked President Nixon for a federal investigation Friday into the beating of two white student leaders at Los Angeles City College by Negro militants Thursday.

One of those attacked, Steve Frank, 22, a Vietnam war veteran, was lauded by the President in March for leading a group that tore down barricades set up by striking students.

The councilmen told Nixon there is "a continuing planned effort to deny Steve Frank and other like-minded young people their civil rights to free speech and expression" and suggested the FBI investigate the "obvious conspiracy which exists on that campus and others in this city."

Two youths identified by police as members of the Black Students Union were arrested on charges growing out of beatings given Frank and Phillip Neuman, 30, after a group of about 40 Negroes broke up a campus grievance committee meeting.

Mayor Sam Yorty assigned police to protect Frank and Neuman Friday.

PERU

Official communiqué of Tuesday will be executed.

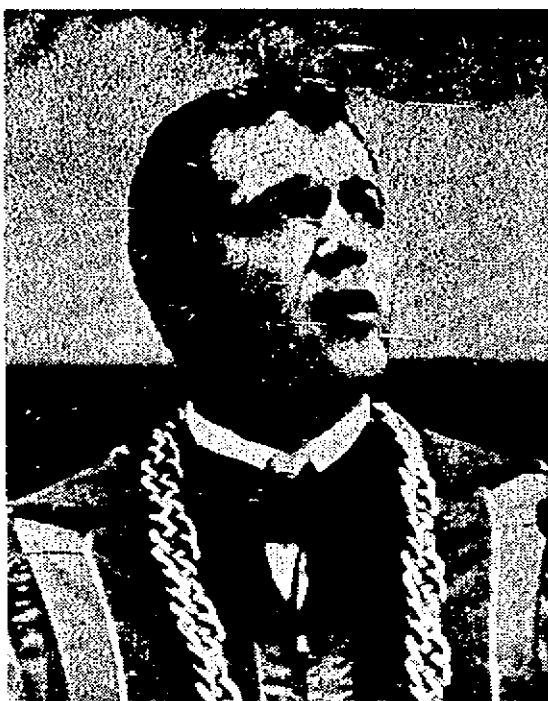

Tuesday's communiqué had said that if the United States officially confirmed a termination of sale of military equipment that a visit by Rockefeller would be "inopportune."

It added that the presence in Peru of the Army, Navy and Air Force missions of the United States would have no further purpose.

Washington's decision was contained in a note delivered to Foreign Minister Edgardo Mercado Friday morning by Ambassador Jones.

PERU CLAIMS the United States unilaterally violated the pact by suspending sales of military equipment.

The United States has about 50 officers and enlisted men in Peru as advisers to the respective branches of the Peruvian armed forces. There are about 120 military dependents here too.

neous cessation" of provocative demonstrations by the rebels.

The faculty said the controversial university property involved in the People's Park be turned into "an experimental community-generated park" and the fence removed.

The current wave of unrest broke out when the lot was fenced in preparation for use as a student playing field. Berkeley "street people" had converted it into a home-made park.

The resolution to dismiss Heyns was turned down 737 to 94.

Campus unrest smoldered in Southern California Friday, causing curtailment of a traditional ceremony at the University of California at Los Angeles.

Student activists at UCLA called for a strike at all nine UC campuses on Monday and Tuesday to dramatize protests against police action on the Berkeley campus.

The traditional UCLA ceremony which was streamlined because of unrest was the inauguration of Chancellor Charles E. Young.

A STRIKE RALLY attended by more than 1,000 young persons was held at Mayerhoff Park on the campus after Young's inauguration.

Most of the speakers were cheered heartily when they decried the violence at Berkeley and called for a two-day student strike next week to dramatize their discontent. Two men students spoke against the proposed strike but their remarks were drowned out for the most part by catcalls and boos from the audience.

One of the anti-strike speakers said the gathering did not represent a majority of the student body, which numbers more than 28,000 and suggested that a referendum be taken on the strike.

Classes were canceled for the day Friday by Chancellor Young, a step taken also at other UC campuses as an antidote to unrest.

At the UC Riverside campus, where classes also were canceled Friday, nearly all of the 3,800 students attended a morning convocation addressed by Chancellor Ivan Hinderaker.

HINDERAKER drew applause when he announced flags on campus would be flown at half-staff for the remainder of the spring quarter in memory of four persons killed in college disturbances this year—including the one recently at Berkeley, two members of the Black Student Union fatally shot on the UCLA campus and a youth fatally wounded in a bomb explosion at San Francisco State.

Hinderaker also said he would send a message to UC President Charles Hitch and to Gov. Reagan urging withdrawal of troops from Berkeley.

Student speakers indicated there were plans for a strike Monday and Tuesday and Hinderaker vowed he would protect the right of the students to strike, as long as they did not interfere with other students' right to attend their classes. He warned faculty members participating in the strike would be subject to dismissal.

L.A. Police Put on Alert

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Police went on tactical alert Friday while about 100 demonstrators marched on the California State College at Los Angeles administration building.

They were denied access by campus police, milled around for half an hour and dispersed peacefully. City police stayed off the campus.

The demonstrators said they wanted the college to rehire art teacher Kurt Von Meier, whose contract has been allowed to lapse.

Ex-Press Chief Is Jailed for Spying

VIENNA (UPI) — A federal court Friday sentenced a former press chief in the interior ministry to three years in jail on espionage charges.

Alois Euler was found guilty of providing foreign intelligence services with secret information while he was personal press chief to the Austrian interior ministry.

POMP ELIMINATED

Young Becomes UCLA Chancellor; Picketed

By RALPH HINMAN JR. Education Editor

On UCLA's 50th birthday, in spartan rites almost stripped of traditional academic pomp, Dr. Charles E. Young, 37, was inaugurated Friday as the school's seventh chancellor.

Marching outside cavernous Pauley Pavilion before a simple investiture there were black armbanded students protesting police and National Guard tactics used earlier this week in smashing UC-Berkeley disturbances.

Roving bands of placard-bearing students opposing a so-called "coalition" of militants also were in evidence. No clashes were reported.

Although a series of rallies in which a Monday student-faculty "strike" were urged continued through the day, no incidents were reported.

UCLA CLASSES were closed by Young, who, less than 24 hours prior to "the happiest day of my life," drastically cut down the scheduled program.

Cancelled was a major speech by HEW Secretary Robert H. Finch, California's lieutenant governor and UC regent before assuming a Nixon Administration cabinet post. Finch later spoke informally with students and teachers, listened to their complaints or questions with seemingly sympathetic ear.

He told this reporter, "Yes, I think the day's events were very well handled considering the circumstances."

About 5,000 spectators crowded into the athletic fieldhouse where, on a floor below, a sizable segment of the university's faculty sat in full academic regalia. Some earlier had threatened a boycott, and it was impossible to determine the number of teachers absent.

NOT PRESENT were Gov. Ronald Reagan, Lt. Gov. Ed Reinecke and state School Supt. Max Rafferty, all regents of the university.

There was no music nor formal parade, as planned, and Rabbi Edgar F. Maginn of Wilshire Temple was the sole non-academician on stage. He offered both invocation and benediction.

A few scattered boos greeted UC President Charles J. Hitch, quickly being drowned out by cheers and applause. Both Hitch and Young's speeches frequently were punctuated by enthusiastic crowd reaction.

Speaking at this "perilous moment," Hitch said it "is with a sense of urgent and grim foreboding that I urge all concerned to withhold a master anger, to seek solutions instead of further battle, to find ways to build — not destroy — this university and the surrounding society's institutions."

"All Californians have a stake in a new reconciliation," he declared, and since the current "generation gap" separates sons from fathers, "it would be well for wisdom and forbearance to begin at home."

THE PRESIDENT concluded by hanging the university's seal-and-chain medallion from Young's neck.

The new chancellor, in a speech hastily rewritten Thursday night, somberly noted that "We must find a way to put an end to the use of force, violence and coercion — from whatever side — as a means of attempting to solve problems."

"Attempts to accomplish this have dealt with surface manifestations," he said, "rather than with the cause. I do not claim to know all of these ... but I do know that processes we have been using to understand and solve them have not worked."

"We must now be willing to try new approaches — which will require us to reexamine principles and roles, recognizing that ... the time for adversary proceedings has ceased."

"We must be able to accept good ideas for what they are, rather than from whom they come," he said. "We must be committed to our own institutions and communities rather than to our own status."

IN AN OBVIOUS reference to Berkeley, Young declared that "we must provide meaningful alternatives to solutions proposed so far."

At a luncheon following in Ackerman Student Union, four honorary doctorates were presented by Hitch.

GUNS ON CAMPUS

incident highlighted a third straight day of disorders at the 4,000-student campus and in North Carolina's second largest city.

THE OTHERS wounded were five police officers and one student. In a disturbance Thursday, a 20-year-old student, Willie Grimes of Winterville, N.C. was found shot to death on the campus.

Davis said the guardsmen were acting on orders from Gov. Bob Scott.

Meanwhile, students began leaving the campus. A&T President Dr. Lewis C. Dowdy had ordered Thursday that the institution be closed Friday. Dowdy said his decision was made to protect members of the college community.

The violence climaxed a week of scattered disorders, which began as the result of ill-feeling over a student body election at a Negro high school earlier in the week.

Police reported sporadic gunfire and rock throwing in Greensboro streets Friday night and 19 arrests for curfew violations. Officers said patrol cars were shot at and stoned and at least two minor fires were reported. There were no injuries, however.

In other developments:

NEW YORK—Student-faculty negotiators at 24,000 student City College of New York outlined to the faculty senate a plan providing that 50 per cent of each Freshman class be selected from among high school graduates in disadvantaged areas. The other 50 per cent would be selected as they are now—by competitive scholastic examination.

ILLINOIS—Southern Illinois University's Carbonado campus student senate voted 15-8 to stage a sit-in on the lawn of SIU President Delyte W. Morris' home, starting Monday. The student senators vowed to continue the sit-in until the university agrees to abolish women's hours or until they are expelled from school. Dean of Students Wilbur Moulton warned the students the action could jeopardize their academic careers.

VIRGINIA—Protesting underclassmen at St. Paul's College in Lawrenceville ended a four-day class boycott. The 317 Freshmen and Sophomores called off their "study-in" after the faculty voted 35-12 to grant them general amnesty. A student spokesman said a list of six demands will be considered at a meeting of students, faculty and trustees June 5.

Nuclear Test Blast Next Fall

GENEVA (UPI) — The United States said Friday it would explode a nuclear device 8,443 feet underground next fall in an apparent test of the Soviet theory that other nations can detect such blasts at long range.

All nations interested in monitoring the 40-kiloton explosion, including the Soviet Union, will be alerted to the test two weeks beforehand.

Chief U.S. disarmament negotiator Adrian S. Fisher submitted the proposal to the final spring session of the Geneva Disarmament Conference.

THE OFFER came in response to Soviet claims that "any global test ban treaty on underground nuclear explosions need not include an on-site inspection clause. The U.S. has demanded such inspection as part of any pact and the September test could help determine whether that demand is valid."

Fisher presented the offer with a statement that the Nixon Administration still believes on-site inspection is necessary to ensure an underground test ban is not violated.

The Soviets, supported by other Communist nations and neutral Sweden, argue that all but the smallest underground blasts can be detected and identified at long range.

U.S. delegation officials said the explosion will be held just outside Rifle, Colo.

'LINDY' REMEMBERS MOON TALK IN 1929

WASHINGTON (AP) — Charles A. Lindbergh, "The Lone Eagle" of pioneer aviation, says rocket pioneer Robert Goddard told him in 1929 a moon voyage was theoretically possible but economically improbable.

In a rare public utterance, with reporters and news photographers barred, Lindbergh philosophized about the future of American aviation and reminisced about Goddard.

He said Goddard told him it was possible to send a multi-stage rocket to the moon.

"THEN HE SMILED a little bit and said it might cost a million dollars, and, of course, that was out," Lindbergh recalled.

In the U.S. budget for fiscal year 1969 alone, the Apollo moon landing program is estimated to cost $2.3 billion.

Lindbergh's remarks to a recent meeting of the Air Line Pilots Association were tape-recorded with his permission and just made available for publication. Since the famous kidnap-murder of his firstborn son, Charles, Jr., 37 years ago the pilot hero has shunned the lime-light.

craft "Snoopy" that carried Stafford and Cernan through the crucial eight-hour landing rehearsal was jettisoned early Friday from the "Charlie Brown" command ship and fired off into orbit around the sun.

"I just saw 'Snoopy' disappear in a big snow storm going straight up into the sun," Stafford told Earth Control. The "snow" was bits of insulation dislodged by the blast.

Possibly because they did not want to give ground control any thoughts about altering their mission, the Apollo 10 pilots complained for the first time Friday about the woolly pieces of spun fiberglass that also got loose in their spaceship from some torn insulation batting.

"WE'VE BEEN itching and scratching for the last four days," said Stafford, the spacecraft commander. "We've just been sneezing and coughing," he added.

Jack Lousma, ground communicator, told Stafford, a native Oklahoman,

Nuclear Test Blast Next Fall

GENEVA (UPI) — The United States said Friday it would explode a nuclear device 8,443 feet underground next fall in an apparent test of the Soviet theory that other nations can detect such blasts at long range.

All nations interested in monitoring the 40-kiloton explosion, including the Soviet Union, will be alerted to the test two weeks beforehand.

Chief U.S. disarmament negotiator Adrian S. Fisher submitted the proposal to the final spring session of the Geneva Disarmament Conference.

THE OFFER came in response to Soviet claims that any global test ban treaty on underground nuclear explosions need not include an on-site inspection clause. The U.S. has demanded such inspection as part of any pact and the September test could help determine whether that demand is valid.

Fisher presented the offer with a statement that the Nixon Administration still believes on-site inspection is necessary to ensure an underground test-ban is not violated.

The Soviets, supported by other Communist nations and neutral Sweden, argue that all but the smallest underground blasts can be detected and identified at long range.

U.S. delegation officials said the explosion will be held just outside Rifle, Colo.

Ask Nixon to Probe Beatings

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Eight city councilmen asked President Nixon for a federal investigation Friday into the beating of two white student leaders at Los Angeles City College by Negro militants Thursday.

One of those attacked, Steve Frank, 22, a Vietnam war veteran, was lauded by the President in March for leading a group that tore down barricades set up by striking students.

The councilmen told Nixon there is "a continuing planned effort to deny Steve Frank and other like-minded young people their civil rights to free speech and expression" and suggested the FBI investigate the "obvious conspiracy which exists on that campus and others in this city."

Two youths identified by police as members of the Black Students Union were arrested on charges growing out of beatings given Frank and Phillip Neuman, 30, after a group of about 40 Negroes broke up a campus grievance committee meeting.

Mayor Sam Yorty assigned police to protect Frank and Neuman Friday.

ficial communique of Tuesday will be executed.

Tuesday's communique had said that if the United States officially confirmed a termination of sale of military equipment that a visit by Rockefeller would be "inopportune."

It added that the presence in Peru of the Army, Navy and Air Force missions of the United States would have no further purpose.

Washington's decision was contained in a note delivered to Foreign Minister Edgardo Mercado Friday morning by Ambassador Jones.

PERU CLAIMS the United States unilaterally violated the pact by suspending sales of military equipment.

The United States has about 50 officers and enlisted men in Peru as advisers to the respective branches of the Peruvian armed forces. There are about 120 military dependents here too.

neous cessation" of provocative demonstrations by the rebels.

The faculty said the controversial university property involved in the People's Park was turned into "an experimental community-generated park" and the fence removed.

The current wave of unrest broke out when the lot was fenced in preparation for use as a student playing field. Berkeley "street people" had converted it into a home-made park.

The resolution to dismiss Heyns was turned down 737 to 94.

Campus unrest smoldered in Southern California Friday, causing curtailment of a traditional ceremony at the University of California at Los Angeles.

Student activists at UCLA called for a strike at all nine UC campuses on Monday and Tuesday to dramatize protests against police action on the Berkeley campus.

The traditional UCLA ceremony which was streamlined because of unrest was the inauguration of Chancellor Charles E. Young.

A STRIKE RALLY attended by more than 1,000 young persons was held at Mayerhoff Park on the campus after Young's inauguration.

Most of the speakers were cheered heartily when they decried the violence at Berkeley and called for a two-day student strike next week to dramatize their discontent. Two men students spoke against the proposed strike but their remarks were drowned out for the most part by catcalls and boos from the audience.

One of the anti-strike speakers said the gathering did not represent a majority of the student body which numbers more than 28,000 and suggested that a referendum be taken on the strike.

Classes were canceled for the day Friday by Chancellor Young, a step taken also at other UC campuses as an antidote to unrest.

At the UC Riverside campus, where classes also were canceled Friday, nearly all of the 3,800 students attended a morning convocation addressed by Chancellor Ivan Hinderaker.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Police went on tactical alert Friday while about 100 demonstrators marched on the California State College at Los Angeles administration building.

They were denied access by campus police, milled around for half an hour and dispersed peacefully. City police stayed off the campus.

The demonstrators said they wanted the college to rehire art teacher Kurt Von Meier, whose contract has been allowed to lapse.

Ex-Press Chief Is Jailed for Spying

VIENNA (UPI) — A federal court Friday sentenced a former press chief in the interior ministry to three years in jail on espionage charges.

Alois Euler was found guilty of providing foreign intelligence services with secret information while he was personal press chief to the Austrian interior ministry.

POMP ELIMINATED Young Becomes UCLA Chancellor; Picketed

By RALPH HINMAN JR. Education Editor

On UCLA's 50th birthday, in spartan rites almost stripped of traditional academic pomp, Dr. Charles E. Young, 37, was inaugurated Friday as the school's seventh chancellor.

Marching outside cavernous Pauley Pavilion before a simple investiture there were black armbanded students protesting police and National Guard tactics used earlier this week in smashing UC-Berkeley disturbances.

Roving bands of placard-bearing students opposing a so-called "coalition" of militants also were in evidence. No clashes were reported.

Although a series of rallies in which a Monday student-faculty "strike" were urged continued through the day, no incidents were reported.

UCLA CLASSES were closed by Young, who, less than 24 hours prior to "the happiest day of my life," drastically cut down the scheduled program.

Cancelled was a major speech by HEW Secretary Robert H. Finch, California's lieutenant governor and UC regent before assuming a Nixon Administration cabinet post. Finch later spoke informally with students and teachers, listened to their complaints or questions with seemingly sympathetic ear.

He told this reporter, "Yes, I think the day's events were very well handled considering the circumstances."

About 5,000 spectators crowded into the athletic fieldhouse where, on a floor below, a sizable segment of the university's faculty sat in full academic regalia. Some earlier had threatened a boycott, and it was impossible to determine the number of teachers absent.

NOT PRESENT were Gov. Ronald Reagan, Lt. Gov. Ed Reinecke and state School Supt. Max Rafferty, all regents of the university.

There was no music nor formal parade, as planned, and Rabbi Edgar F. Maginn of Wilshire Temple was the sole non-academic on stage. He offered both invocation and benediction.

A few scattered boos greeted UC President Charles J. Hitch, quickly being drowned out by cheers and applause. Both Hitch and Young's speeches frequently were punctuated by enthusiastic crowd reaction.

Speaking at this "perilous moment," Hitch said it "is with a sense of urgent and grim foreboding ... that I urge all concerned to withhold a master anger, to seek solutions instead of further battle, to find ways to build — not destroy — this university and the surrounding society's institutions."

"All Californians have a stake in a new reconciliation," he declared, and since the current "generation gap" separates sons from fathers, "it would be well for wisdom and forbearance to begin at home."

THE PRESIDENT concluded by hanging the university's seal-and-chain medallion from Young's neck.

The new chancellor, in a speech hastily rewritten Thursday night, somberly noted that "We must find a way to put an end to the use of force, violence and coercion — from whatever side — as a means of attempting to solve problems."

"Attempts to accomplish this have dealt with surface manifestations," he said, "rather than with the cause. I do not claim to know all of these ... but

I do know that processes we have been using to understand and solve them have not worked.

"We must now be willing to try new approaches — which will require us to reexamine principles and roles, recognizing that ... the time for adversary proceedings has ceased.

"We must be able to accept good ideas for what they are rather than from whom they come," he said. "We must be committed to our own institutions and communities rather than to our own status."

IN AN OBVIOUS reference to Berkeley, Young declared that "we must provide meaningful alternatives to solutions proposed so far."

At a luncheon following in Ackerman Student Union, four honorary doctorates were presented by Hitch.

24,000 student City College of New York outlined to the faculty, senate a plan providing that 50 per cent of each Freshman class be selected from among high school graduates in disadvantaged areas. The other 50 per cent would be selected as they are now—by competitive scholastic examination.

ILLINOIS—Southern Illinois University's Carbondale campus student senate voted 15-8 to stage a sit-in on the lawn of SIU President Delyte W. Morris' home, starting Monday. The student senators vowed to continue the sit-in until the university agrees to abolish women's hours or until they are expelled from school. Dean of Students Wilbur Moulton warned the students the action could jeopardize their academic careers.

VIRGINIA—Protesting underclassmen at St. Paul's College in Lawrenceville ended a four-day class boycott. The 317 Freshmen and Sophomores called off their "study-in" after the faculty voted 35-12 to grant them general amnesty. A student spokesman said a list of six demands will be considered at a meeting of students, faculty and trustees June 5.

Black Politicians Forge New Position in Cities of America

By STEVEN V. ROBERTS New York Times Service

LOS ANGELES — There is a new campaign button in the Chicago ghettos. It says, "A Black Mayor in '71," and the Negroes who wear it, however outsiders may smile, are not kidding. They are just as serious, in fact, as the hundreds of thousands of others who are forging a new role for black politicians in the nation's cities.

In recent weeks Chapel Hill, N.C., and Fayette, Miss., have elected Negro mayors. For some time there have been Negro Mayors in Cleveland, Gary, Ind., and the District of Columbia.

SEVERAL Negroes, moreover, have won figurehead mayoral jobs in cities run by professional managers as scores of others have gained seats on various municipal governing bodies. And now there appears to be a better-than-even chance that Los Angeles, the nation's third largest city, will elect its first Negro mayor next Tuesday.

Thus are the nation's Negroes not only gaining greater leverage in urban politics but participating as well in many areas of life that were closed to them just a few years ago.

The reasons for this upsurge in black power are fairly obvious. The migration of Negroes from rural to urban areas, has been accompanied by, and partly caused by, the exodus of many middle-class whites to suburbia. Negroes now account for more than one-third of the population in many major cities.

FEDERAL legislation has vastly increased the number of Negroes registering to vote, particularly in the South. And throughout the country, campaigns for civil rights and black power have shaken the apathy of many blacks and convinced them that political success if both possible and necessary.

There are still only a very few cities, however, where Negroes hold a working majority. Thus most black politicians must create alliances with white groups and appeal for white votes in order to win, and this fact strongly influences the shape and direction of urban politics.

The successful black politician must usually appeal to the broad middle section of the community. He must be a moderate and respectable man who poses little threat to the white establishment while forcefully advocating the needs of the poor. As Howard Lee, the new mayor of Chapel Hill, put it:

"I'll be walking a tight-rope. I could be slaughtered from both sides, by the white racists or the black militants."

HERE IN Los Angeles, City Councilman Thomas Bradley has walked that tight-rope. He has drawn support from conservative Republican businessmen, labor leaders, representatives of the "new politics" and Democratic Party officials, as well as from the black community, which accounts for only about 18 per cent of the population here.

His stands for integration and against violence in race relations have drawn charges of "Uncle Tomism" from militant blacks, while his opponent, Mayor Samuel W. Yorty, has accused him of appealing for the "bloc vote" of "black militants and left-wing radicals."

In Jersey City last week, Julian Robinson, a Negro, was expected to win about 20 per cent of the vote in the mayoral election and finish second or third. He wound up in fourth place with 10.3 per cent, and local observers felt that his failure to dislodge the Black Panthers and other extremist groups had lost him votes among some middle-class Negroes.

"LIBERAL FRONTS" supporting black candidates are also impeded by the disunity and competing ambitions that can splinter a black community as readily as a white one. In both Newark and Baltimore, for example, at least two Negroes seem intent on running for mayor in the next election, and observers believe they would only cancel each other out.

Black politicians are also thwarted by Democratic Party organizations, which in some cities continue to retain the loyalty of many Negroes. In Chicago, for instance, 10 of the 50 aldermen are Negro, but seven belong to the organization of Mayor Richard J. Daley, and could hardly be expected to support an insurgent black candidate against him. Many other Negroes enjoy city jobs they are eager to retain.

Some whites feel that many major cities are "not ready" for black mayors, and are urging Negroes to stand aside for liberal white candidates with a better chance of winning. In Chicago, Adlai Stevenson 3d has been promoted as a possible mayoral contender in 1971, at the same time that blacks are talking about running their own candidate.

IN DETROIT, Walter Reuther, head of the United Auto Workers, has reportedly been urging Negroes to run a candidate for city clerk on the ticket with the incumbent, Mayor Jerome Cavanagh, in 1970 rather than challenge the mayor directly.

Supporters of black candidates believe that in many instances, however, a Negro would attract a wider base of support than a white. "A black candidate here could get more than 50 per cent of the black vote, and no white man could get nearly that much away from the machine," said one Chicago labor official. "He could combine that with the liberal white vote and maybe give the machine a scare."

Nevertheless, many Negro leaders are still reluctant to run for mayor in a number of cities. Some share the conviction that the population is "not ready" to elect a black man; others are reluctant to leave lucrative jobs for the travail and uncertainty of politics.

BUT WHETHER or not Negroes run for mayor, the growth of black political power is having a significant influence in many cities. In New Orleans, several mayoral candidates in the fall election are making strong pitches for Negro votes, although four years ago the mayor was elected on an avowedly segregationist platform.

What if a Negro does win? Mayor Richard Hatcher of Gary has complained that people tend to expect more from a black man. "But there is no reason to believe that a black man has wider feet and can walk on water," said a seasoned observer of Mayor Carl Stokes in Cleveland.

In recent years, the issue of law and order with its corollary debate over the conduct of the police, has probably become the most troublesome and emotional urban question, and it puts a Negro in a particularly difficult position.

On the other hand, the law and order issue can sometimes help a Negro. In political terms, it could bring into the race a right-wing candidate who would draw off support from the major white contender. This is how Hatcher won the Democratic nomination in Gary.

IN SEVERAL cities, the business establishment has supported black politicians who they feel would provide some "fire insurance" against renewed rioting.

"Ninety-nine per cent of the businessmen who support Walter Washington here are interested in protecting their investments downtown," said one observer in the nation's capital, where Washington was appointed mayor. "They think he'll pacify the natives."

Beyond the question of law enforcement is the larger issue of reconstruction of the nation's urban centers. At least for a time, perhaps while they are still novelties, black mayors have been able to attract considerable contributions from the federal government, local businessmen and foundations.

Mayor Stokes raised more than $11 million for a redevelopment project called "Cleveland Now!" Right after his election in Fayette, Miss., Charles Evers took off on a fund-raising tour and one of his white opponents said:

"I expect some of those foundations like Ford and Rockefeller will put money in here to help make this a national success and encourage the colored people in other areas to work through the political system."

GARDEN GOPHERS Dobrynin, Nixon Like Tuba Trills

By BAXTER OMOHUNDRO
From Our National Bureau

WASHINGTON — The University of Minnesota concert band played its best in the White House rose garden Friday, and later there were pleasant speeches by President Nixon and Soviet Ambassador Anatoly Dobrynin.

But the guy who stole the show was a tuba-tooter from Edina, Minn.

The occasion was a recital by the Gopher band's 54-piece concert ensemble upon its return from a triumphant 2-months cultural exchange tour of the Soviet Union.

BENEATH a huge magnolia tree planted by Andrew Jackson and between manicured boxwood hedges that guard budding roses, the tails of conductor Frank Beniciscutto's formal suit flapped frantically as he led the group through a selection of airs by American and Russian composers.

The President, Mrs. Nixon and the other distinguished spectators applauded warmly.

Then barrel-chested Stanford D. Freese, 24, of Edina, came to the fore for a solo rendition of the "Carnival of Venice" on his tuba.

At first it was a conventional rendition, and the audience smiled appreciatively. Then the tempo broke into swing time, Freese swayed with it and the great golden bell of the tuba glistened in the sun that shone from a hazy sky.

THERE WERE trills and triple-tongue passages, and the vibrant, tumbling notes echoed from the executive mansion and the colonnaded walk by its west wing. The President grinned broadly and, with his guests, tapped his feet on the grass and moved his hands in rhythm.

As soon as Freese finished his breathless performance, the President bolted from his chair, and

Reagan Signs Bill to Limit Use of Funds

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Gov. Ronald Reagan announced Friday he has signed a bill sparked by the two leaders of an unsuccessful drive to recall him.

The measure makes it illegal to divert for personal use funds collected for recall, referendum or initiative campaigns. Violation will be $5,000 fine or two years in prison.

Assemblyman James A. Hayes, R-Long Beach, the author, charged Edwin and Joyce Koupal diverted funds for their recall Reagan campaign last year to make a payment on their home on Roseville. The Koupals denied the assertion.

grasped the tubaists hand in congratulation. The applause was loud.

The solo was nearly as rousing as the finale, a medley of Gopher tunes that, during the fight song, had the President's right arm jabbing in tempo.

In an informal exchange between Nixon and Dobrynin, both expressed hope that the ensemble's tour of 10 Russian cities would be followed by an increase in such activities.

DOBRYNIN remarked on the success of their tour and jovially commented that the ensemble issues "better notes than we exchange in a diplomatic way."

And he commented on the fact that Beniciscutto's wife had sat in for the second flutist, who was drafted: "I didn't think American wives played second anything."

The chief executive recalled his 1959 trip to Russia and observed that the tour included concerts in the golden city of Samarkand, which through history has been taken only through hard siege by Alexander, Genghis

Khan and Arab armies. But the ensemble, he said, "without firing a shot, took Samarkand easily."

Nixon said that the Russians and Americans share a similar sense of humor and musical appreciation and "are not natural enemies — on the contrary, they are natural friends."

He forecast a relationship in which there still would be rivalry, "but with the peaceful competition that can only be good for both peoples."

ALTHOUGH both he and Dobrynin fulsomely praised the band, Nixon commented particularly on Freese's virtuosity:

"He plays a tuba like I didn't think a trumpet could be played."

As the gathering broke up for coffee and cookies at the end of the 45-minute performance, Freese was asked for his inaudible response to the President's congratulations.

Still breathless from his tuba-toting and the President's praise, Freese looked bewildered.

"Gosh, I can't remember," he said.

Medics Warn on Mixing Booze and Pills

By BEN ZINSER
Medical Science Editor

Two medical professors warned of the dangers of mixing booze and tranquilizing drugs Friday and also described a promising new medication for a severe mental disorder.

The professors, both affiliated with Loma Linda University school of medicine, addressed doctors at St. Mary's Hospital.

Dr. Bernard E. Tilton, associate professor of pharmacology, said all tranquilizers pose a danger when alcoholic beverages are consumed.

THE EFFECT MAY BE SO PROFUND when the two are mixed the patient may pass out, Dr. Tilton warned.

He said persons taking certain antiulcer medications such as Pro-Banthine must be careful when they also take antidepressant drugs such as amitriptyline and imipramine.

The combination can sometimes cause the side effect of blurred vision and alarm the patient.

Dr. Clarence E. Carnahan, associate professor of psychiatry, said the drug lithium is showing great promise in reducing the frequency, severity and duration of the "high" of manic-depressive illness.

Manic-depressive disorder denotes a condition ordinarily marked by cyclic swing between great elation and depression.

Dr. Carnahan said the drug also appears able to reduce the severity of depression involved in the disorder. "It is the coming drug," he asserted.

Because lithium can be toxic, the U.S. Food and Drug Administration insists doctors prescribing lithium possess an investigator's license, Dr. Carnahan said.

DR. CARNAHAN REVIEWED ALL the drugs currently in use in the treatment of emotional illness. He especially praised Thorazine and Librium for their value in calming a patient, Mellaril for its usefulness among the elderly with emotional problems and Ritalin for its mood-brightening property among the elderly.

He said other researchers recently reported that Ritalin can markedly reduce depression when given in conjunction with antidepressant drugs of the "tricyclic" group. Drugs in this class include Elavil, Norpramin, Pertofrane, Tofranil, Aventyl and Vivactil, Dr. Carnahan said.

Fair Housing Project to Take Applications

The Long Beach Housing Authority will accept applications for admission as tenants in the city's leased-housing program, starting Wednesday.

Applications may be filed between 10 a.m. and 3 p.m. on week days at the authority's new headquarters, 944 Pacific Ave.

Dick Major, housing program coordinator, warned the filing of an application will not mean immediate housing, but said the authority hopes to start placing tenants in June.

As prospective tenants apply, Major explained, the authority will be able to determine with more accuracy the size of accommodations needed.

Eligibility is based primarily on family income, and is open to single persons only if they are disabled, or at least 62 years of age.

Maximum limits for eligibility are $4,125 annually for one person, $4,750 for two, $5,750 for three and $6,250 for four. These limits increase to a maximum of $8,625 annually for families of 10 or more.

Priority in assigning tenants will give first choice to families who actually are without housing, then to those about to be without housing, and finally to those whose present housing is unsafe, unsanitary or overcrowded, as determined by federal regulations.

TWO 'HAPPENINGS'

More Backing For Dog

By FRED HAMLIN
Staff Writer

Two happenings made it appear Friday the Los Angeles County Housing Authority may have bitten off more than it can chew by trying to separate Kathy Bruce from her dog, Lassie Boy.

Most spectacular of the two events was a mass march by neighbors—young, old and in between—in front of the Carmelitos Housing Project headquarters in North Long Beach.

The other perhaps equally important in the long run—was a letter from Supervisor Burton W. Chace to Chairman Jerry Mayo of the Housing Authority.

The supervisor asked that an exception to the no-dogs rule of housing project tenants be made in the case of 11-year-old Kathy.

"AS YOU KNOW," CHACE WROTE, "young Kathy suffers from the effects of cerebral palsy, and I am sure the dog is a very important part of her life."

"It would be my belief the exception should be made just as an exception should be made in the case of a seeing-eye dog where the animal is vital to a person who suffers from a handicap."

"However, I have been advised that even seeing-eye dogs are not allowed within the project."

"I would like the commission to consider my recommendation for an exception in the case of Kathy Bruce and in the case of blind persons who require seeing-eye dogs in their daily lives."

Most of the 600 members of the Carmelitos Tenants Union took part in the noontime march, some of them wearing braces and using crutches themselves—just like crippled Kathy.

Adults and youngsters by the dozens carried homemade signs, mostly biting messages of indignation against the order that would separate the girl from her Collie pup playmate.

The occasion also was used to emphasize the tenant union's demands for changes in administrative rules of the County Housing Authority and project management, which spokesmen said have violated their rights.

SPOKESMEN SAID THE TENANTS are supported in their actions by "Social Workers Union 535, the Council of Churches and other interested groups."

With Friday's heartening events, and a steady stream of callers offering material and moral aid, the fatherless Bruce family of 710 Via Wanda could look forward to a possible happy ending to the Kathy-Lassie story.

The happy ending could come next week in the form of an official County Housing Authority happening datelined Los Angeles.

Musicians Hit Museum 'Pay Hiring Bias'

By DON BRACKENBURY
Staff Writer

A local chamber music group charged Friday the Museum of Art is discriminating against Long Beach musicians in concerts where the performers are paid.

As a result, said Carl Robertson, acting president of the Camerata dei Musici, they "will not participate without remuneration" in any series of concerts for which any musicians are paid, or "for which musicians are imported to the exclusion of Long Beach musicians."

The Camerata dei Musici is a nonprofit corporation for the promotion of chamber music, and was founded in 1963.

Robertson said the group had agreed to do a concert for the museum's summer series, but at a meeting May 4 voted unanimously to cancel the engagement.

"ALTHOUGH WE DO ENJOY performing, and are a nonprofit organization, we could not put individual members of our group in a position where they would be performing against their principles," Robertson said.

In a letter to the museum—a copy of which was filed with the City Council—Robertson said the chamber music group hopes its action will "not inconvenience you," and said they would be glad to perform at any time the policy is changed.

"Our standard fee is $150, which, in view of our contribution to the community, for which we receive no remuneration is quite small," he wrote.

The resolution adopted by the Camerata dei Musici noted that "many fine professional musicians live and work in Long Beach," and said many are members of Local 353, American Federation of Musicians.

"Long Beach musicians have not been favorably considered for paid performances at Long Beach Museum of Art," the resolution asserted, pointing out that the museum is supported by local taxpayers.

SIDEWALK SALE IS SLATED TODAY

Long Beach's annual day-long Sidewalk Sale will brighten downtown streets today.

Tables displayed in front of stores will display merchandise offered at bargain prices according to Kirk Kirkpatrick, event chairman.

Extra sales personnel will reinforce merchant staffs to keep cash registers in action for fast service.

"Shoppers can expect every convenience," Kirkpatrick said, even though purchases are made outside.

The sale is an annual project of Downtown Long Beach Associates.

POLICE GET HELP

Hurdling a 'Language Gap'

of Wilmington, Harbor City and San Pedro—one fourth of the population.

On the other are 203 police officers who patrol the area—only 10 of whom speak Spanish.

"It's a problem," Harbor Division Commander, Captain Tom King, admitted Friday.

"It's a problem," Harbor Division Commander, Captain Tom King, admitted Friday.

So Captain King issued a call for volunteers.

TWO SPANISH-SPEAKING CIVILIAN clerks at Harbor Division headquarters volunteered to teach Spanish—no pay, on their own time—to policemen.

Thirty officers signed up for classes, also on their own time.

Classes will open next week, one at 8 a.m. and another at 2 p.m. Wednesday.

The teachers are Lydia Tovar and Mary Carbajal, who will use a Government Printing Office textbook, "A Practical Spanish Grammar for Border Patrol Officers."

Border Patrol Spanish, it seems, has the words, the inflections and the idioms familiar to Spanish-speaking residents of the harbor area.

To the English-speaking policemen, some of the Mexico-Spanish twists on vowels or consonants can be difficult.

There's a single R that grows, a double RR which grows harder. J is H, LL is Y, and you drop the final D in such words as "usted" and "ciudad."

"We'll teach 'em," one of the volunteer teachers promised.

"Seguro que si," said the other, which means, in effect, "You bet we will!"

CHAMP CLOUTS CHALLENGERS

City Awards Truck Body Contract

A $21,146 contract for furnishing and installing light-duty truck bodies and reconditioning and installing city-owned truck bodies has been awarded by the City Council to Standard Carriage Works Inc., of Los Angeles.

The city proposes to purchase under the contract eight new truck bodies and to recondition and install two city-owned truck bodies on new chassis, to be furnished by the city.

Nine of the new pieces of equipment will replace older vehicles, and the tenth will be an additional unit for the animal regulation division.

All of the replaced equipment will subsequently be sold at auction.

The combination can sometimes cause the side effect of blurred vision and alarm the patient.

Dr. Clarence E. Carnahan, associate professor of psychiatry, said the drug lithium is showing great promise in reducing the frequency, severity and duration of the "highs" of manic-depressive illness.

Manic-depressive disorder denotes a condition ordinarily marked by cyclic swing between great elation and depression.

Dr. Carnahan said the drug also appears able to reduce the severity of depression involved in the disorder. "It is the coming drug," he asserted.

Because lithium can be toxic, the U.S. Food and Drug Administration insists doctors prescribing lithium possess an investigator's license, Dr. Carnahan said.

DR. CARNAHAN REVIEWED ALL the drugs currently in use in the treatment of emotional illness. He especially praised Thorazine and Librium for their value in calming a patient, Mellaril for its usefulness among the elderly with emotional problems and Ritalin for its mood-brightening property among the elderly.

He said other researchers recently reported that Ritalin can markedly reduce depression when given in conjunction with antidepressant drugs of the "tricyclic" group. Drugs in this class include Elavil, Norpramin, Pertofrane, Tofranil, Aventyl and Vivactil, Dr. Carnahan said.

Fair Housing Project to Take Applications

The Long Beach Housing Authority will accept applications for admission as tenants in the city's leased-housing program, starting Wednesday.

Applications may be filed between 10 a.m. and 3 p.m. on week days at the authority's new headquarters, 944 Pacific Ave.

Dick Major, housing program coordinator, warned the filing of an application will not mean immediate housing, but said the authority hopes to start placing tenants in June.

As prospective tenants apply, Major explained, the authority will be able to determine with more accuracy the size of accommodations needed.

Eligibility is based primarily on family income, and is open to single persons only if they are disabled, or at least 62 years of age.

Maximum limits for eligibility are $4,125 annually for one person, $4,750 for two, $5,750 for three and $6,250 for four. These limits increase to a maximum of $8,625 annually for families of 10 or more.

Priority in assigning tenants will give first choice to families who actually are without housing, then to those about to be without housing, and finally to those whose present housing is unsafe, unsanitary or overcrowded, as determined by federal regulations.

TWO 'HAPPENINGS' More Backing For Dog

By FRED HAMLIN
Staff Writer

Two happenings made it appear Friday the Los Angeles County Housing Authority may have bitten off more than it can chew by trying to separate Kathy Bruce from her dog, Lassie Boy.

Most spectacular of the two events was a mass march by neighbors—young, old and in between—in front of the Carmelitos Housing Project headquarters in North Long Beach.

The other perhaps equally important in the long run—was a letter from Supervisor Burton W. Chace to Chairman Jerry Mayo of the Housing Authority.

The supervisor asked that an exception to the no-dogs rule of housing project tenants be made in the case of 11-year-old Kathy.

"AS YOU KNOW," CHACE WROTE, "young Kathy suffers from the effects of cerebral palsy, and I am sure the dog is a very important part of her life."

"It would be my belief the exception should be made just as an exception should be made in the case of a seeing-eye dog where the animal is vital to a person who suffers from a handicap."

"However, I have been advised that even seeing-eye dogs are not allowed within the project."

"I would like the commission to consider my recommendation for an exception in the case of Kathy Bruce and in the case of blind persons who require seeing-eye dogs in their daily lives . . ."

Most of the 600 members of the Carmelitos Tenants Union took part in the noontime march, some of them wearing braces and using crutches themselves—just like crippled Kathy.

Adults and youngsters by the dozens carried homemade signs, mostly biting messages of indignation against the order that would separate the girl from her Collie pup playmate.

The occasion also was used to emphasize the tenant union's demands for changes in administrative rules of the County Housing Authority and project management, which spokesmen said have violated their rights.

SPOKESMEN SAID THE TENANTS are supported in their actions by "Social Workers Union 535, the Council of Churches and other interested groups."

With Friday's heartening events, and a steady stream of callers offering material and moral aid, the fatherless Bruce family of 710 Via Wanda could look forward to a possible happy ending to the Kathy-Lassie story.

The happy ending could come next week in the form of an official County Housing Authority happening datelined Los Angeles.

Musicians Hit Museum 'Pay Hiring Bias'

By DON BRACKENBURY

A local chamber music group charged Friday the Museum of Art is discriminating against Long Beach musicians in concerts where the performers are paid.

As a result, said Carl Robertson, acting president of the Camerata dei Musici, they "will not participate without remuneration" in any series of concerts for which any musicians are paid, or "for which musicians are imported to the exclusion of Long Beach musicians."

The Camerata dei Musici is a nonprofit corporation for the promotion of chamber music, and was founded in 1963.

Robertson said the group had agreed to do a concert for the museum's summer series, but at a meeting May 4 voted unanimously to cancel the engagement.

"ALTHOUGH WE DO ENJOY performing, and are a nonprofit organization, we could not put individual members of our group in a position where they would be performing against their principles," Robertson said.

In a letter to the museum—a copy of which was filed with the City Council—Robertson said the chamber music group hopes its action will "not inconvenience you," and said they would be glad to perform at any time the policy is changed.

"Our standard fee is $150, which, in view of our contribution to the community, for which we receive no remuneration is quite small," he wrote.

The resolution adopted by the Camerata dei Musici noted that "many fine professional musicians live and work in Long Beach," and said many are members of Local 353, American Federation of Musicians.

"Long Beach musicians have not been favorably considered for paid performances at Long Beach Museum of Art," the resolution asserted, pointing out that the museum is supported by local taxpayers.

SIDEWALK SALE IS SLATED TODAY

Long Beach's annual day-long Sidewalk Sale will brighten downtown streets today.

Tables displayed in front of stores will display merchandise offered at bargain prices according to Kirk Kirkpatrick, event chairman.

Extra sales personnel will reinforce merchant staffs to keep cash registers in action for fast service.

"Shoppers can expect every convenience," Kirkpatrick said, even though purchases are made outside.

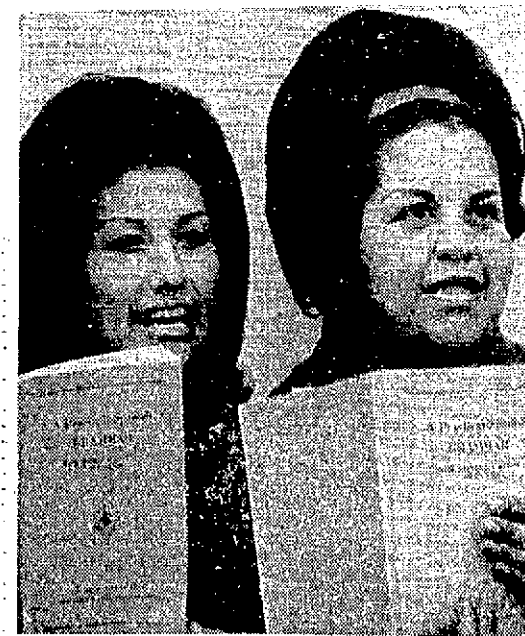

The sale is an annual project of Downtown Long Beach Associates.

POLICE GET HELP Hurdling a 'Language Gap'

The experts have a name for it. "Language gap!"

of Wilmington, Harbor City and San Pedro—one fourth of the population.

On the other are 203 police officers who patrol the area—only 10 of whom speak Spanish.

"It's a problem," Harbor Division Commander, Captain Tom King, admitted Friday.

"It's a problem," Harbor Division Commander, Captain Tom King, admitted Friday.

So Captain King issued a call for volunteers.

TWO SPANISH-SPEAKING CIVILIAN clerks at Harbor Division headquarters volunteered to teach Spanish—no pay, on their own time—to policemen.

Thirty officers signed up for classes, also on their own time.

Classes will open next week, one at 8 a.m. and another at 2 p.m. Wednesday.

The teachers are Lydia Tovar and Mary Carbajal, who will use a Government Printing Office textbook, "A Practical Spanish Grammar for Border Patrol Officers."

Border Patrol Spanish, it seems, has the words, the inflections and the idioms familiar to Spanish-speaking residents of the harbor area.

To the English-speaking policemen, some of the Mexico-Spanish twists on vowels or consonants can be difficult.

There's a single R that growls, a double RR which growls harder. J is H, LL is Y, and you drop the final D in such words as "usted" and "ciudad."

"We'll teach 'em," one of the volunteer teachers promised.

"Seguro que si," said the other, which means, in effect, "You bet we will!"

CHAMP CLOUTS CHALLENGERS

Peter Rhee, left, junior political science major at California State College at Long Beach, studies a move while playing 20 students during marathon chess session on campus Friday. Occasion was official launching of school's chess club. Rhee played 60 challengers and emerged with 56-2-1 record. His comment, following posting of tourney results: "You can't win 'em all."

Club supporters said the turnout hints at solid future for chess at the school.

City Awards Truck Body Contract

A $21,146 contract for furnishing and installing light-duty truck bodies and reconditioning and installing city-owned truck bodies has been awarded by the City Council to Standard Carriage Works Inc., of Los Angeles.

The city proposes to purchase under the contract eight new truck bodies and to recondition and install two city-owned truck bodies on new chassis, to be furnished by the city.

Nine of the new pieces of equipment will replace older vehicles, and the tenth will be an additional unit for the animal regulation division.

$128 Stereo Stolen

George Nason, 4503 Pepperood Ave., told Long Beach police Friday that his car, parked in front of his home, was looted of a stereo tape player valued at $128.

Week's Wall Street Trend

AP Business Writer

By GEOFFREY PARKINSON

Technical Analyst with Paule, Webber, Jackson & Curtis
An underlying bullish psychology is still evident. The recent corrective activity quickly reduced the generally overbought position of the market. The lack of any real top or upside failure suggests that the 965-970 level should be tested before any real downturn would be expected. The decline in institutional activity during the recent market dip suggests that they expect still higher levels. The market should continue to benefit from both good news and no news. Only a concentration of bad news is expected to break the generally optimistic and confident trend of recent ticker tape action.

NEW YORK 6/19 — "It was bound to happen," an analyst said as the stock market skidded to a sharp loss the past week after several weeks of steady advance.

The Dow Jones industrial average, for example, fell more than 19 points the past week, after gaining more than 43 points in the three previous weeks.

"The market had been moving almost straight up," Larry Wachtel, a Bache & Co. vice president, said, "and was much in need of a profit-taking, consolidation period in which to digest its gains. It tried to do this several times recently but each time was diverted by some favorable news developments."

But the profit taking that got under way late in the previous week after President Nixon's Vietnam speech really hit in this week. A lot of investors who had run up good gains during the recent advances apparently decided to start cashing in.

The feeling in Wall Street seemed to have been that the President might say something that would stimulate the market, and this resulted in some anticipation buying.

But after the talk, according to Shearson, Hammett & Co., "it became evident the U.S. proposals would not bring any immediate improvement in the peace negotiations, and investors began to get a little queasy about the economic outlook."

A spate of profit taking hit the market in its opening session, and it fell sharply. It skidded again Tuesday as the profit-taking pressure continued, and the Dow industrial slid 9.76 points for its biggest single-day tumble since March 13 when it fell 10.38.

The downturn continued early Wednesday but was reversed late in the session. Analysts credited much of its buoyancy to bargain hunting, pointing out that after the losses in the first two sessions the prices of some issues had fallen to a point at which they looked attractive to such hunters. The bargain buying did not last long, however, petering out Thursday, and it was all downhill after that. It closed the week Friday with a small loss.

Some analysts think that, barring unforeseen developments such as a breakthrough in the Vietnam peace talks, the market will move in a fairly narrow trading range for a while.

SHORTER TERM — beyond shorter term profit-taking there seems to be a general reluctance to sell. Without any significant downside momentum — still further strength is expected over the medium term. There is no definite upside objective for further strength — however no real resistance is expected below the 980-1000 level. While the intermediate term outlook is still positive further strength is expected to be very selective. Fewer issues are expected to make smaller gains. Therefore a less aggressive trading stance is still recommended.

Longer term — the major trend is up and is not expected to be challenged over the intermediate term. The next significant confirmation of the major uptrend would be new highs by the major averages.

SHORTER TERM corrections or a period of consolidation in the following groups and issues is expected to provide good buying opportunities for trading purposes — Building-Carrier Georgia-Pacific Computers Sperry Rand Control Data Savings and Loans Imperial Corp. of America First Charter Financial Great Western Financial. There is another area that has been gaining increasing momentum and has been under increasing accumulation — drugs. The more attractive issues in the drug area are — American Hospital Supply, Johnson & Johnson, Warner-Lambert. The oil group is still dynamic but looks vulnerable on a near term basis.

There are a number of stocks that have been under significant accumulation and have shown good relative strength. While many have already moved up sharply a period of consolidation or correction is now expected to provide another trading opportunity. The best buying opportunity would develop after low volume corrections into areas as indicated below:

Amplex. Buy in 38-40 support area or above previous high at 44.
Ashland Oil. Buy in 46-48 support area.
Brunswick. Buy in 20-22 support area.
Fairchild Cam. Buy in 78-80 support area or above 82 high.
Imperial Corp. Buy in 15-16 support area or above 18 1/2 high.
Outboard Marine. Buy in 38-40 area or above 45.
Sperry Rand. Buy in the 50-52 support area or above 58 high.
Del E. Webb. Buy under 20 or above 24.

YOUR HOROSCOPE by JEANE DIXON

Forecast for Sunday

Aries (March 21-April 19): A fairly good day for reviewing your health. Do your share in the community's expansion of faith; then take it easy and let others come to you. It will be an enjoyable change.

Taurus (April 20-May 20): The way you behave today sets the tone for a long time to come. Be agreeable and make every effort to be tolerant where you can not quite accept the ways and needs of other people.

Gemini (May 21-June 20): Find some new perspective on life. Wear new clothes for the first time. Cultivate new acquaintances to see if they may become friends. Drop by to visit your old friends (particularly those you have not seen for a while).

Cancer (June 21-July 21): Extra care is greatly needed today (in all travel or the use of mechanical equipment). After confusion, a good day of visiting is promised.

Leo (July 22-Aug. 22): Contentment from others still as you withdraw—keep it under control. Arrange some way of changing your methods to evade the criticism; never mind the embarrassment of being noticed in the act of turning about.

Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Your relatives and neighbors expect to see you this Sunday. Do the amenities gracefully, make the rounds (there are gifts for you here). Today is a good time to check everything out before doing anything drastic. Finding the "why" in a situation may be more important than any other determination.

Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Money has to be spent today on institutions and the use of them for various purposes. Take the time to check everything out before doing anything drastic. Finding the "why" in a situation may be more important than any other determination.

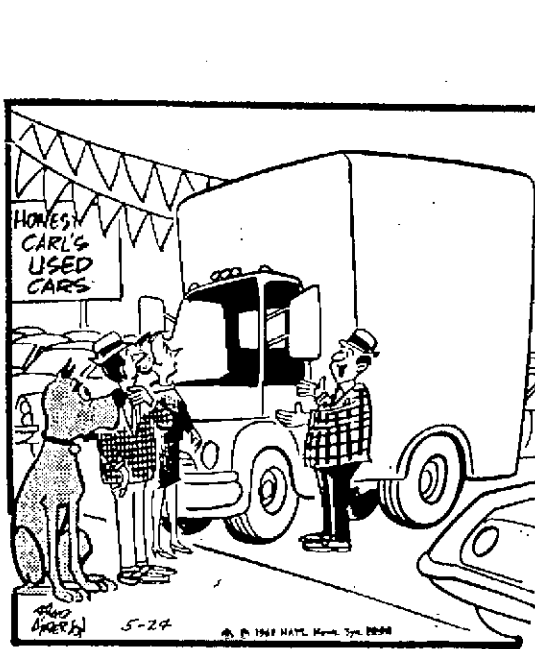

Scorpio (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): There is a potential rift between your social obligations and your deeper personal interests. Criticism is merely something to live with for the moment while you seek a solution.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): There is no point in resenting supervision—if you do not like it, find or create conditions where you don't get it in an agreeable form. Today is a good time to think about service, employment, personal responsibility, and what your feelings do your share in local customs and community expressions of faith. Then visit your friends, meet new people. Keep going all day.

Aquarius (Jan. 22-Feb. 18): Consult your family, relatives, friends to see how much of a program you can adopt which will have something in it for all in proportion to their importance in your life. Make no promises; just listen.

Pisces (Feb. 19-March 20): This Sunday may find you in some emergency over a some condition. There should be some help available.

Forecast for Sunday

Your birthday today: Your coming year is full of changes, reconstruction, sweeping changes that will replace old ones. Business or job requirements may force relocation for many of today's natives. For those who stay put, the environment changes. Today's natives are very sensitive to visual stimuli, versatile and dexterous. Their occupations defy classification.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): A fairly good day for reviewing your health. Do your share in the community's expression of faith; then take it easy and let others come to you. It will be an enjoyable change.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): The way you behave today sets the tone for a long time to come. Be agreeable and make every effort to be tolerant where you can not quite accept the ways and needs of other people.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Extra care is presently needed today (in all travel or the use of mechanical equipment). After some initial confusion, a good day of visiting is promised.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Comment from others still has you moved—keep it under control. Arrange some way of changing your methods in oblique criticism; never mind the embarrassment of being noticed in the act of turning about.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Your relatives and friends are bound to see you this Sunday. Do the amenities gracefully, make the rounds (there are gifts for you here and there), then kick outside.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Money has to be spent today on institutions and the use of them for various purposes. Take the time to check everything out before doing, anything drastic. Finding the "why" in a situation may be more important than any other determination.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): There is a potential rift between your social obligations and your deeper personal interests. SCORPIO is merely cautioning to live with for the moment while you seek a solution.

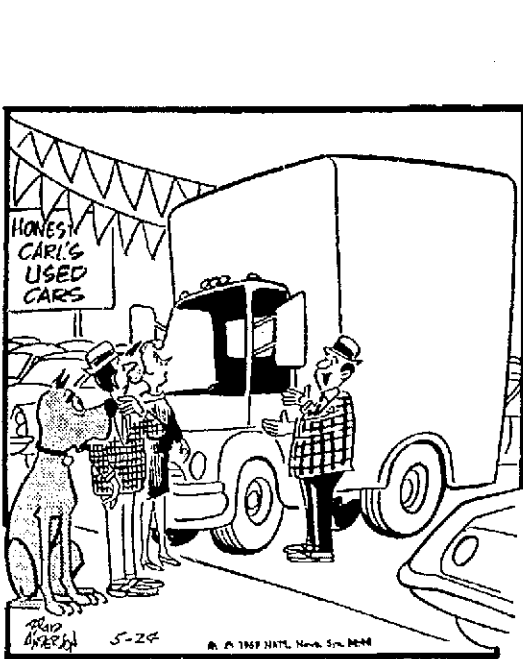

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): There is no point in resenting superiority—If you do not like it, find or create conditions where you don't get it in unacceptable form. Today is a good time to think about service employment, personal responsibility, and what your feeling for them may be.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Start early, do your share in local customs and community excursions of faith. Then visit your friends, meet new people. Keep going all day!

BLONDE, BLUE-EYED — BUT HARDLY BOYISH
Diane Schroeder Confers With Advisor Jim DeNoble

SPECIAL SCOUT

Lots of Polish In This Troop

By ANNE HOWE
Staff Writer

There is a lot more "esprit de Scouts" and more tucked in shirts among members of Explorer Post 250, in Anaheim, these days.

The reason is simple — there's a distaff Boy Scout in their troop.

Electrifying would aptly describe pretty, blue-eyed Diane Schroeder's first experience as an Explorer Scout — or better a fair description of the Post's first reaction to 15 year-old Diane.

YOU SEE, Post 250, sponsored by the Autonetics Division of North American Rockwell Corp. is an electronics specialty post.

Diane became fascinated by electronics—"not all those Senior Boy Scouts" she emphasized—while attending a special post membership meeting.

The night the post held its recruiting conclave, she just went for the ride accompanying her parents, while Eagle Scout brother Mike and his best friend visited the post before deciding to join.

"I heard the advisor mention girls were allowed in Explorer Scouting, but wasn't really interested until I heard about all those groovy field trips the boys had taken — seeing Saturn rockets, the Apollo space capsule and visiting all those different electronics companies," Diane said.

SHE BECAME so enthused she signed her membership blank before Mike, who won't be able to join until he completes his transfer from Troop 558.

With six meetings as the only feminine member of Post 250 behind her, Diane now manages to smile as she recalls her nervousness at her first meeting as an official member of the post.

"I don't know whether I was more frightened by all those electronic terms or being surrounded by all those boys," she said.

WHAT DOES post advisor Jim DeNoble, Autonetics engineer, think about having a girl in his post?

"Well, since Diane joined attendance by our 18 male members is at an all-time high," he said, "But the boys obviously think as much of Diane's brains as they do of her beauty since they elected her Post representative."

Although Diane believes in electronics as a career with a future, she has her heart set on becoming an airline stewardess. "I want to do a lot of traveling before settling down," she said.

"Most people think that stewardesses can only say 'coffee, tea or milk,'" Diane said, "But imagine their reaction when I start explaining the theory behind the plane's electronic radio gear."

For Deep Roots Give Dichondra Lots of Water

But be sure that when you irrigate dichondra you give it plenty of water.

Established dichondra will send its roots as much as 12 inches deep into the soil if the soil is good and the water will penetrate that far.

Each irrigation should add at least inch of water and a full inch is even better.

Place half a dozen or so cans among your sprinklers to find out how long it takes to deliver the needed amount of water, using the can receiving the least water as your guide.

GARDENING

By JOE LITTLEFIELD

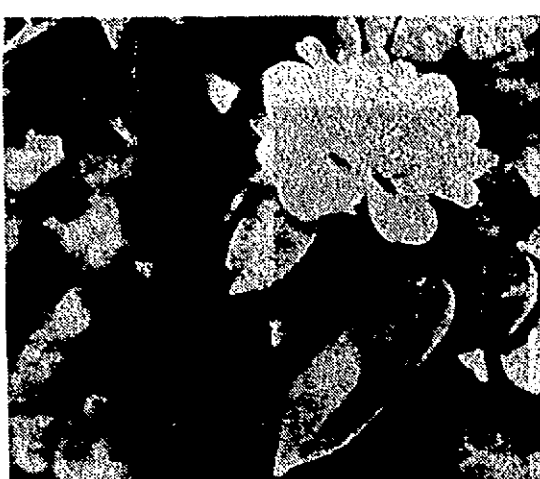

Gardeners love the showy, colorful long blooming winter-season Japonica-type camellias. Some gardeners aren't familiar with the Sasangua-camellia type with smaller leaves. Most of them have viney type branches. The gardeners do not realize their wider-range landscape uses, and faster growth.

This unfamiliarity may be due to the plants' shorter blooming season, the less spectacular blossoms the less wide selection of showy colors. Sasanguas more than make up for it in terms of varied landscape uses. They tolerate sunbake up to full sun in milder areas, hence may be used in more sections of the sunny garden.

FOR EXAMPLE, ours grow in full sun on a four foot high cyclone wire fence which is at the property line. The horizontally-trained willowy, vine-like branches are tied to the wire, and send out numerous secondary shorter branches which provide a hedge-like screen between the two properties. One sasangua plant covers an 18 foot section of the fence. It could be trained to grow up eight feet or maybe higher if it had supports for the branches. Our Showa-No-Sakae variety lovely peony-form, dusty-pink color flowers smother the plant during the fall season. Such plants may be trained to walls, too.

One near a fish pond, planted on a slant to arch over the water is an interesting landscape use for these shrubs. We've seen one planted at the foot of a sycamore tree with the fewer select branches trained to grow up the trunk. One in a hanging basket and another in a pot with branches trained to cascade down over the edges of the containers. The branch ends had nuts of small bolts tied to them to force downward growth. Later the weights were removed. They were very attractive and artistic as green-foliage plants, and beautiful when blooming.

We've been told of sasangua camellia plantings under tall shade trees that served as informal arching, ground-cover plants. Check with your local nurseryman about their Address all questions to Garden Editor, Independent, Press-Telegram, 604 Pine Ave., Long Beach, Calif. 90801. No stamps or self-addressed envelopes, please. Answers are given only in this column.

Q—Please give me botanical name of plant of which a dried specimen of bloom is enclosed. The plant has blade-like leaves about 18 to 24 inches long, and flat flowering stalks, sometimes having four blossoms at the tip. The bloom opens evenings and lasts through the following day. These flower stalks tend to arch over and to strike roots at varied uses faster growing camellias.

THOSE OF YOU who luckily planted Pacific hybrid delphiniums last fall have been enjoying the gorgeous tall spikes of showy mostly blue shades blossoms. You'll help the plants develop a shorter secondary-spike crop of flowers after the taller faded flower spikes have been cut back to within several inches of the ground. Be sure you cut the old flower spike off on a sharp slanting cut. This type of cutting eliminates possibility of any overhead water from seeping down into the hollow stalk causing a rot and loss of the plant.

GIFT PLANTS of cyclamen, and past blooming Easter lily may be planted out in the garden. Cyclamen should be set out in an exposed garden area where plants receive several hours of morning sun. Bulb tops should be about a quarter of an inch above the surrounding ground level as they're set out in prepared soil.

their tips. Also, I should like to know who the principal commercial grower of epiphyllum is, and what literature on the subject is available.

A—If the stiff foliage is one-quarter of an inch to perhaps a little wider and the plants bloom for about two weeks, rest a while then bloom again, the plant may be more. It can take lots of shade and lots of sun, with the possible exception of desert areas. There it would have to be in at least half shade. I'll keep your name and address. Soon as the ones I checked on specifically for the flowers begin to bloom again, I'll insect them to be doubly sure. If the blossom formation isn't the same as your specimen I'll let you know. Write Beahms Cactus Gardens, 2686 Paloma Street, Pasadena 91107 for their epiphyllum catalog. Be sure to visit the Arboretum, 401 N. Baldwin Avenue, Arcadia Sunday, May 18th and you'll see the beautiful Epiphyllum Show, displayed by the Epiphyllum Society of America members.

L.B. AREA CLUB NOTES

The Fifteenth Annual Fuchsia and Shade Plant Show, "Fuchsia Fantasy", planned by the California National Fuchsia Society, under the leadership of show chairman, Cliff Ebeling, is slated at the Orange County Fair Grounds in Costa Mesa from June 20 to the 22nd.

The show will be held in the agricultural building. Fuchsias in hanging baskets, trees, wall pockets and espalliers plus orchids, ferns, bromeliads, begonias and many more will be featured. Commercial displays are slated. Door prizes will be offered every day on admission tickets. Merchandise tickets available during the show will be for the grand

Admission is $1.00 for adults and 50c for students. Children under 12 will be admitted free when accompanied by parents.

THE WEEKEND of July 18 has been set aside for the annual 3-day Fiesta de Flores at South Coast Botanic Garden, according to Mrs. Jack S. Gates, chairman. The Fiesta is sponsored by South Coast Botanic Garden and the Department of Arboreta and Botanic Gardens.

Entries can be made in one of the seven divisions which include: cut flowers, potted plants, fruits and vegetables, educational exhibits, artistic floral arrangements, landscape design exhibits, and a special division for Juniors under age 18 years.

Exhibitors can be amateurs or professionals and can enter as individuals or as a group.

Call the Garden at 377-4564 for Schedules after June First. Also at this time, call for information regarding themes for artistic floral arrangements.

Exhibiting in the Show and admission are without charge.

Jobs to Do Now—

Climbing rose canes of sufficient length need to be trained. Tie the canes horizontally to the supports. As they grow longer, continue tying them till canes have reached the space to cover. Carefully bend the ends downward and under and tie them. This stops further growth. It forces secondary branches to grow up all along the canes, and eventually they blossom. Cut the branch flowers or wait until blossoms have faded back to within two to three buds of the lateral canes. Some weeks later secondary upright branches grow out from the branch stubs of hybrid tea climbing roses.

Spray chewing worms found on California oak trees, English primroses, Passion vines, geraniums, and ivy with a stomach-type spray. Spray flowering and fruiting plum trees for pear slugs.

BLONDE, BLUE-EYED — BUT HARDLY BOYISH
Diane Schroader Confers With Advisor Jim DeNoble

SPECIAL SCOUT

Lots of Polish In This Troop

By ANNE HOWE
Staff Writer

There is a lot more "esprit de Scouts" and more tucked in shirts among members of Explorer Post 250, in Anaheim, these days.

The reason is simple — there's a distaff Boy Scout in their troop.

Electrifying would aptly describe pretty, blue-eyed Diane Schroader's first experience as an Explorer Scout — or better a fair description of the Post's first reaction to 15 year-old Diane.

YOU SEE, Post 250, sponsored by the Autonetics Division of North American Rockwell Corp. is an electronics specialty post.

Diane became fascinated by electronics—"not all those Senior Boy Scouts" she emphasized—while attending a special post membership meeting.

The night the post held its recruiting conclave, she just went for the ride accompanying her parents, while Eagle Scout brother Mike and his best friend visited the post before deciding to join.

"I heard the advisor mention girls were allowed in Explorer Scouting, but wasn't really interested until I heard about all those groovy field trips the boys had taken — seeing Saturn rockets, the Apollo space capsule and visiting all those different electronics companies," Diane said.

SHE BECAME so enthused she signed her membership blank before Mike, who won't be able to join until he completes his transfer from Troop 558.

With six meetings as the only feminine member of Post 250 behind her, Diane now manages to smile as she recalls her nervousness at her first meeting as an official member of the post.

"I don't know whether I was more frightened by all those electronic terms or being surrounded by all those boys," she said.

WHAT DOES post advisor Jim DeNoble, Autonetics engineer, think about having a girl in his post?

"Well, since Diane joined attendance by our 18 male members is at an all-time high," he said, "But the boys obviously think as much of Diane's brains as they do of her beauty since they elected her Post representative."

Although Diane believes in electronics as a career with a future, she has her heart set on becoming an airline stewardess. "I want to do a lot of traveling before settling down," she said.

"Most people think that stewardesses can only say 'coffee, tea or milk,'" Diane said, "But imagine their reaction when I start explaining the theory behind the plane's electronic radio gear."

For Deep Roots Give Dichondra Lots of Water

But be sure that when you irrigate dichondra you give it plenty of water. Established dichondra will send its roots as much as 12 inch deep into the soil if the soil is good and the water will penetrate that far.

Each irrigation should add at least inch of water and a full inch is even better.

Place half a dozen or so cans among your sprinklers to find out how long it takes to deliver the needed amount of water, using the can receiving the least water as your guide.

GARDENING

By JOE LITTLEFIELD

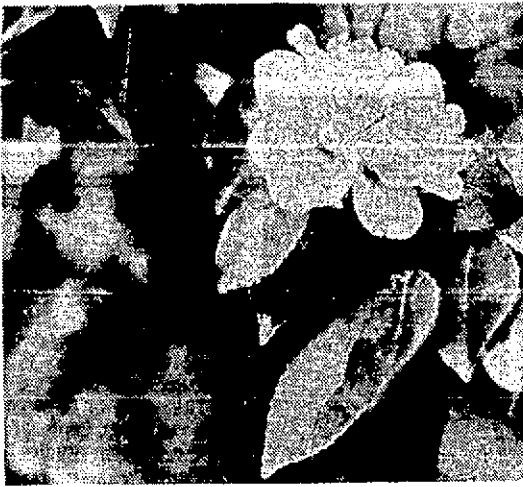

Gardeners love the showy, colorful long blooming winter-season Japonica-type camellias. Some gardeners aren't familiar with the Sasanqua-camellia type with smaller leaves. Most of them have viney type branches. The gardeners do not realize their wider-range landscape uses, and faster growth.

This unfamiliarity may be due to the plants' shorter blooming season, the less spectacular blossoms the less wide selection of showy colors. Sasanquas more than make up for it in terms of varied landscape uses. They tolerate sunshie up to full sun in milder areas, hence may be used in more sections of the sunny garden.

FOR EXAMPLE, ours grow in full sun on a four foot high cyclone wire fence which is at the property line. The horizontally-trained willowy, vien-like branches are tied to the wire, and send out numerous secondary shorter branches which provide a hedge-like screen between the two properties. One sasanqua plant covers an 18 foot section of the fence. It could be trained to grow up eight feet or maybe higher if it had supports for the branches. Our Showa-No-Sakae variety lovely peony-form, dusty-pink color flowers smother the plant during the fall season. Such plants may be trained to walls, too.

One near a fish pond, planted on a slant to arch out over the water is an interesting landscape use for these shrubs. We've seen one planted at the foot of a sycamore tree with the fewer select branches trained to grow up the trunk. One in a hanging basket and another in a pot with branches trained to cascade down over the edges of the containers. The branch ends had nuts of small bolts tied to them to force downward grown. Later the weights were removed. They were very attractive and artistic as green-foliage plants, and beautiful when blooming.

We've been told of sasanqua camellia plantings under tall shade trees that served as informal arching, ground-cover plants. Check with your local nurseryman about their varied uses faster growing camellias.

Q—Please give me botanical name of plant of which a dried specimen of bloom is enclosed. The plant has blade-like leaves about 18 to 24 inches long, and flat flowering stalks, sometimes having four blossoms at the tip. The bloom opens evenings and lasts through the following day. These flower stalks tend to arch over and to strike roots at

THOSE OF YOU who luckily planted Pacific hybrid delphiniums last fall have been enjoying the gorgeous tall spikes of showy mostly blue shades blossoms. You'll help the plants develop a shorter secondary-spoke crop of flowers after the taller faded flower spikes have been cut back to within several inches of the ground. Be sure you cut the old flower spike off on a sharp slanting cut. This type of cutting eliminates possibility of any overhead water from seeping down into the hollow stalk causing a rot and loss of the plant.

GIFT PLANTS of cyclamen, and past blooming Easter lily may be planted out in the garden. Cyclamen should be set out in an exposed garden area where plants receive several hours of morning sun. Bulb tops should be about a quarter of an inch above the surrounding ground level as they're set out in prepared soil.

L.B. AREA CLUB NOTES

The Fifteenth Annual Fuchsia and Shade Plant Show, "Fuchsia Fantasy", planned by the California National Fuchsia Society, under the leadership of show chairman, Cliff Ebeling, is slated at the Orange County Fair Grounds in Costa Mesa from June 20 to the 22nd.

The show will be held in the agricultural building. Fuchsias in hanging baskets, trees, wall pockets and espaliers plus orchids, ferns, bromeliads, begonias and many more will be featured. Commercial displays are slated. Door prizes will be offered every day on admission tickets. Merchandise tickets available during the show will be for the grand prize, as well as many other prizes.

Admission is $1.00 for adults and 50c for students. Children under 12 will be admitted free when accompanied by parents.

'A Ton of Timidity Fortified by Gall Is Equal to Bravado'

By VERNON SCOTT
HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Behind the bravado of Hollywood film-makers lies a ton of timidity fortified only by stupendous gall.
Frequently when a studio chief or an independent producer completes a film he has no idea whether it will be a hit or a bomb. And none of his underlings dares tell him the truth.
ONLY THE publicity department is certain beyond doubt that every movie is the greatest thing since the invention of the Magic Lantern.
There are three classic cases at one studio alone that exemplify the dunder-headedness of the sci-works of cinematic art on an unsuspecting public.

The studio is Paramount. The pictures were "Going My Way," "Shane," and "The Graduate."
In all three cases studio bigwigs were terrified they had produced catastrophes and attempted to unload them on their brethren in the movie-making business.
WHEN director Leo McCarey completed "Going My Way" with Bing Crosby and Barry Fitzgerald as priests, the late Frank Freeman blew his stack. He told McCarey that folks down tists who bestow great South didn't cotton to priests and that he would lose his shirt.

Freeman refused to pay McCarey his director's salary, insisting instead, that the director accept a percentage of the profits, if any.
"Freeman forced me into becoming a millionaire," McCarey said after the film went on to win the Oscar, along with awards for Crosby and Fitzgerald. McCarey won the Oscar in addition to millions.
Then there was the case of George Stevens' "Shane."
When Stevens turned in his print of the Western to corporate structure, Paramount was struck with a massive case of St. Vitus Dance. They believed, collectively, that Stevens had lost his mind.
THE STUDIO negotiated with United Artists to buy the picture at cost. Paramount just wanted to unload the atrocity and get its money back. But United Artists wasn't having any. Clearly, the brains at

UA knew a turkey when they saw one, too.
With a tear in its corporate eye, Paramount released "Shane" and waited for the bomb to explode.
It did. With shattering effect. "Shane" became a classic Western and earned as much money as any horse opera that ever thundered out of a sound stage.
FINALLY, and recently, director Mike Nichols turned out an unpretentious little picture titled "The Graduate" starring a couple of unknown kids, Dustin Hoffman and Katharine Ross.
Once again the bosses had a stroke. "What is this?" they cried, or something like that. All they could see was ruin and disgrace.
"The Graduate" caught on with young people and currently is chasing "Gone With The Wind" and "Sound of Music" as the most successful boxoffice picture ever made.
It would seem to prove one thing — there's a world of difference between courage and gall.

BIT PARTS: Pamela Austin will star in a segment of the new video series "Love, American Style" . . . Peter Graves returned from Europe and starring in "The Five Man Army" to resume his role in video's "Mission: Impossible".
Stevens outlined the center's curriculum:
"1. The students will get a chance to see the great films the way Truffaut, Godard and others did at the French Cinematheque and Mike Nichols and Stanley Kubrick did at 42nd Street theaters in New York. The center will have its own library of films and the studies are cooperating in providing others. We'll have viewing rooms where students can study a film one

Academy for Films In Works

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — For years, film leaders have dreamed of an institute where future movie makers could study under the tutelage of accomplished creators in the industry. At last that dream is achieving reality.
Earlier this month George Stevens Jr., director of the American Film Institute, announced that the first class of 15 would begin at the Center for Advanced Film Studies in September.
This represented a giant step forward in the maturity of the American film. Most other film-industry nations have long made provision for developing future movie makers. Hollywood never did. As a result, foreign films made advances in creativity while the American movie seemed wedded to its glorious past.
An academy for young film makers isn't going to change all that but it is a hopeful sign of Hollywood's forward look.
The site is Greystone, a fortress-like mansion near the end of the Sunset Strip.
The 55-room structure was built by the Doheny oil family for $4 million in 1926. Later it proved too large even for oil millionaires and it was used as a location for such movies as "Rebel Without a Cause" and "The Loved One."
Over some opposition by neighbors, the city of Beverly Hills gave the American Film Institute a 12-year-lease at $1 per year.
Stevens outlined the center's curriculum:
"1. The students will get a chance to see the great films the way Truffaut, Godard and others did at the French Cinematheque and Mike Nichols and Stanley Kubrick did at 42nd Street theaters in New York. The center will have its own library of films and the studies are cooperating in providing others. We'll have viewing rooms where students can study a film one reel at a time.

"2. The tutorial idea will be used as it is in the fields of architecture, music, medicine and law.
"3. Students will be exposed to practical work as soon as they get here. They will shoot their own films, and we will encourage them to use locations. Also, we will have an actors workshop so they will be able to use experienced performers."

MOVIE GUIDE

As a guide to moviegoers, this newspaper on Wednesdays and Saturdays lists capsule contents of many of the major motion pictures playing the Long Beach area. The classifications represent the judgment of Organizations.

THE PRIME OF MISS JEAN BRODIE — Though not a fallen woman, an unconventional Scotch schoolmistress stumbles a few times as she pursues her romantic views of life. (M).

THE ILLUSTRATED MAN — Ray Bradbury's supernatural and psychological study of former carnival roustabout Rod Steiger whose body was covered with tattoos by Claire Bloom. (M).

MICHAEL AND HELGA — A young German couple searches for sexual freedom and combats previously conditioned points of view about sexuality. (R).

THE HORSE IN THE GRAY FLANNEL SUIT — Walt Disney's live-action comedy-romance about an advertising executive's zany campaign to pay for his teen-age daughter's temperamental jumping horse. (G).

CHARLY — Academy Award winner Cliff Robertson stars in a sentimental story of emergence from mental retardation and a leap toward genius.

"2. The tutorial idea will be used as it is in the fields of architecture, music, medicine and law.

"3. Students will be exposed to practical work as soon as they get here. They will shoot their own films, and we will encourage them to use locations. Also, we will have an actors workshop so they will be able to use experienced performers."

'A Ton of Timidity Fortified by Gall Is Equal to Bravado'

By VERNON SCOTT

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Behind the bravado of Hollywood film-makers lies a ton of timidity fortified only by stupendous gall.

Frequently when a studio chief or an independent producer completes a film he has no idea whether it will be a hit or a bomb. And none of his underlings dares tell him the truth.

ONLY THE publicity department is certain beyond doubt that every movie is the greatest thing since the invention of the Magic Lantern.

GEORGE STEVENS
'Shane' Bravado vs. Timidity

LEO MCCAREY
'Going My Way' Fortune

MIKE NICHOLS
'The Graduate' — Success

works of cinematic art on an unsuspecting public.

The studio is Paramount. The pictures were "Going My Way," "Shane," and "The Graduate."

In all three cases studio bigwigs were terrified they had produced catastrophes and attempted to unload them on their brethren in the movie-making business.

WHEN director Leo McCarey completed "Going My Way" with Bing Crosby and Barry Fitzgerald as priests, the late Frank Freeman blew his stack. He told McCarey that folks down tists who bestow great South didn't cotton to priests and that he would lose his shirt.

Freeman refused to pay McCarey his director's salary, insisting instead, that the director accept a percentage of the profits, if any.

"Freeman forced me into becoming a millionaire," McCarey said after the film went on to win the Oscar, along with awards for Crosby and Fitzgerald. McCarey won the Oscar in addition to millions.

Then there was the case of George Stevens and "Shane."

When Stevens turned in his print of the Western to corporate structure, Paramount was struck with a massive case of St. Vitus Dance. They believed, collectively, that Stevens had lost his mind.

THE STUDIO negotiated with United Artists to buy the picture at cost. Paramount just wanted to unload the atrocity and get its money back. But United Artists wasn't having any. Clearly, the brains at

UA knew a turkey when they saw one, too.

With a tear in its corporate eye, Paramount released "Shane" and waited for the bomb to explode.

It did. With shattering effect. "Shane" became a classic Western and earned as much money as any horse opera that ever thundered out of a sound stage.

FINALLY, and recently, director Mike Nichols turned out an unpretentious little picture titled "The Graduate" starring a couple of unknown kids, Dustin Hoffman and Katharine Ross.

Once again the bosses had a stroke. "What is this?" they cried, or something like that. All they could see was ruin and disgrace.

"The Graduate" caught on with young people and currently is chasing "Gone With The Wind" and "Sound of Music" as the most successful boxoffice picture ever made.

It would seem to prove one thing — there's a world of difference between courage and gall.

BIT PARTS: Pamela Austin will star in a segment of the new video series "Love, American Style." Peter Graves returned from Europe and starring in "The Five Man Army" to resume his role in video's "Mission: Impossible."

Brady, Liebeck Lead Vikings Toward Title

By DAVE DANIEL
SAN MATEO — Clouds covered the low-lying foothills Friday, and that made it all the easier for Tim Brady to float on them.

Brady pitched Long Beach City College to a 7-2 win over College of San Mateo in the state junior college baseball playoff opener. He did it mostly on heart.

The Viking lefthander got lots of help, notably from Steve Liebeck, who powered a first inning grand slam homer in his first playoff start this year. LBCC scored five runs in the first frame.

In a picturesque setting overlooking San Francisco

Bay, the Vikings will try to clinch their second state crown in a row today with Dennis Benson tabbed by coach Joe Hicks as the starting pitcher.

That would leave ace Ray Brown (11-1) for the third and final game if needed in the best-of-three playoff. The Bulldogs are expected to send righthander Harry Shragia (13-0) to the mound to try to stop LBCC's attack. If he wins the first game, he may begin the second.

Brady, who pitched the opening win in the Southern California championships last Friday, then saved the final game for Brown on Saturday, was as nervous as when he won the deciding game in the state finals last year.

But he didn't let on. Provided with a five-run lead in the first inning, he easily handled the Northern California champion Bulldogs, although he gave up 10 hits.

CSM coach John Nocco started lefthander Don Belloumini, and he was greeted with six hits in the first inning, including Liebeck's grand slam after Glenn Berberet and Ray Colin singled and Eddie Crosby walked.

Jay Morrison, who was later to make a diving catch in foul territory in right field that Hicks called the best he had seen in 10 years, then doubled, and Mike Davis and Brady followed with singles.

The Bulldogs got their runs in the second to close the gap to 5-2 on a walk and three singles. Brady shut them out after that.

He helped his own cause in the third when he singled home Davis for another run, and in the eighth when he scored LBCC's final run on a sacrifice fly by Crosby.

The Vikings got only four hits after the first inning and wound up with 10 to match San Mateo's total. Brady, Liebeck, Colin and Berberet had two each.

Liebeck, 25, scored on a sacrifice fly by Crosby. Berberet, 25, scored on a sacrifice fly by Crosby. Crosby, 25, scored on a sacrifice fly by Crosby.

Chorley, Frost Hurl Rams to 5-3 Victory Over Ventura

By GARY ELLIS

Millikan High stole a page from the Dodgers' "How to Win" book Friday afternoon when it turned in three double plays, stole three bases and used a fine relief job by Dave Frost to scuttle Ventura, 5-3, and advance to the semifinal round of the 4-A CIF playoffs.

The Rams met Arcadia, victor over defending champion Savanna 4-2, on Tuesday.

Dave Chorley, outfielder-turned-pitcher, got credit for the win with four innings of work. He was not sharp and tired after throwing 61 pitches. Dave Frost relieved in the fifth and limited the Cougars to three hits.

Trailing 1-0 after three innings, Millikan leadoff hitter Rich Bailey (3-for-3, scoring twice) ripped a triple that hit the wall in centerfield on the bounce. Chorley followed with a double to drive home Bailey.

Chorley took third on a wild pitch and shortstop Rand Rasmussen singled him home. Russ Calderella singled Rasmussen to third, and the alert shortstop scored on a wild pitch.

Ventura's pitcher, Bob Turner, put the Cougars on top in the fourth, but it was one of the Rams' three double plays, started by a wide-awake Chorley, that may have saved the day for the Rams.

Dick Tafoya singled and advanced to second on Jeff Jensen's grounder to Ram second baseman Phil Pence. Tafoya kicked the ball out of Pence's glove and all hands were safe. Gary Anglin walked to load the bases.

Chorley's first pitch to Bruce Bauer was hit back to the box. Chorley whipped a strike to the plate to nail Tafoya from third, and catcher Tim Marshall fired to first to catch Bauer. With runners on second and third, Turner hit a soft drive to center-right that scored a pair.

Tied 3-3, the Rams' Steve Derian walked and stole second. Bailey hit a sharp single that went through the leftfielder's legs and rolled to the wall, allowing Bailey and Derian to score the winner in the fourth.

The Vikings got only four hits after the first inning and wound up with 10 to match San Mateo's total. Brady, Liebeck, Colin and Berberet had two each.

Liebeck, 25, scored on a sacrifice fly by Crosby. Berberet, 25, scored on a sacrifice fly by Crosby. Crosby, 25, scored on a sacrifice fly by Crosby.

Ruddell's One-Hitter KO's Dominguez in Playoffs, 2-0

By KEN PIVERNETZ
Staff Writer

Mike Ruddell and the number two are proving a tough combination for Lakewood High opponents to heat in the CIF 4-A baseball playoffs.

Ruddell hurled his second one-hitter as the Lancers won their third consecutive playoff game by a 2-0 count Friday over Coast League champion Dominguez at Blair Field.

Ruddell fanned 11 in winning his 12th game of the season against three defeats.

The Lancers had almost as hard a time trying to hit anything off Eric Raich, who suffered his first loss in a two-year span covering 19 decisions.

Tony Piraino, who had gone hitless in his last 12 times at bat.

With runners at second and third, one out and the infield drawn in, Piraino hit a ground ball that barely eluded Don second baseman Bob Hamilton.

Mike Rae and Eric Shiffer scored with the game's only runs in the second inning.

Rae had popped a double down the leftfield line with one out and scampered to third on the same play when rightfielder Don Sneddon made a poor throw to second.

Shiffer hit a grounder to shortstop Charlie Bates, who caught Rae in a rundown between third and home. Fancy footwork by Rae, however, enabled him to escape the putout and return to third.

Shiffer moved all the way to second on the play,

to set the stage for Piraino's biggest hit of the year.

Dominguez had one serious threat, in the sixth, when it loaded the bases with one out on an error by Ruddell, the lone Don hit by Ray Patterson, and a hit batsman.

But the next batter, catcher Lee Williams, hit into a quick first-to-home-to-first double play.

The win put the Lancers into the semi-finals Tuesday against surprising Santa Fe, a 4-2 winner over Camarillo.

Dodger Bats Still Asleep

By FRED CLAIRE

In the spring the Dodgers had three strong candidates for shortstop—Paul Popovich, Billy Grabarkewitz and Ted Sizemore.

The question of who would start attracted considerable attention.

Just to show you how things are going for the Dodgers, all three started in the Dodger infield Friday night—Popovich at second, Sizemore at short and Grabarkewitz at third.

With three shortstops in the lineup, the Dodgers were stopped short by the St. Louis Cardinals, 1-0, as little," says Alston. The youngsters are feeling the major league pressure for the first time. Sizemore's average has slipped to .278, Russell's to .241 and Grabarkewitz is at .130.

"The only bright spot I saw for us was the pitching of Foster," said Alston.

The twenty-two-year-old Foster gave up a run in the first inning on three singles but didn't allow another hit in eight innings of work.

The Cardinal run came as fast as you can say Lou Brock. Brock opened the game with a single, stole second, moved to third on Julian Javier's infield out and scored on Curt Flood's single to left. Foster proceeded to load the bases by yielding a single to Joe Torre and a walk to Tim McCarver but he struck out Mike Shannon and Jim Hicks. That was the end of the Cardinals' hitting until Dal Maxvill singled with two out in the ninth against a masterful job of pitching by Alan Foster went to waste.

It was the second night in a row the Dodgers have been blanked, and their streak of scoreless innings has reached 21.

One of the reasons is the Mod Squad isn't keeping up to date with its early performances. One of the young Dodgers—third baseman Bill Sudakis—was benched Friday night for the first time since he was called up from Albuquerque last September.

Sudakis has had only one hit in his last 11 at-bats and has driven in only three runs in the last 15 games. His average is .252.

Sizemore has an 0-for-14 streak, Russell 0-for-8 and Grabarkewitz was 0-for-10 before he singled in the fifth inning Friday.

"Everybody has stopped hitting at the same time," said Dodger skipper Walter Alston.

The statistics say the same thing as Alston. The Dodgers have been shut out in three of their last four games, during which time the team batting average is .175.

Dick Tafoya singled and advanced to second on Jeff Jensen's grounder to Ram second baseman Phil Pence. Tafoya kicked the ball out of Pence's glove and all hands were safe. Gary Anglin walked to load the bases.

Chorley's first pitch to Bruce Bauer was hit back to the box. Chorley whipped a strike to the plate to nail Tafoya from third, and catcher Tim Marshall fired to first to catch Bauer. With runners on second and third, Turner hit a soft drive to center-right that scored a pair.

Tied 3-3, the Rams' Steve Derian walked and stole second. Bailey hit a sharp single that went through the leftfielder's legs and rolled to the wall, allowing Bailey and Derian to score the winner in the fourth.

Mike Ruddell and the number two are proving a tough combination for Lakewood High opponents to beat in the CIF 4-A baseball playoffs.

Ruddell hurled his second one-hitter as the Lancers won their third consecutive playoff game by a 2-0 count Friday over Coast League champion Dominguez at Blair Field.

Ruddell fanned 11 in winning his 12th game of the season against three defeats.

The Lancers had almost as hard a time trying to hit anything off Eric Raich, who suffered his first loss in a two-year span covering 19 decisions.

Raich allowed only four hits. The big "blow" was struck by Lancer catcher

Ruddell's One-Hitter KO's Dominguez in Playoffs, 2-0

Tony Piraino, who had gone hitless in his last 12 times at bat.

With runners at second and third, one out and the infield drawn in, Piraino hit a ground ball that barely eluded Don second baseman Bob Hamilton. Mike Rae and Eric Shiffer scored with the game's only runs in the second inning.

Rae had popped a double down the leftfield line with one out and scampared to third on the same play when rightfielder Don Sneddon made a poor throw to second.

Shiffer hit a grounder to shortstop Charlie Bates, who caught Rae in a rundown between third and home. Fancy footwork by Rae, however, enabled him to escape the putout and return to third.

Shiffer moved all the way to second on the play.

to set the stage for Piraino's biggest hit of the year.

Dominguez had one serious threat, in the sixth, when it loaded the bases with one out on an error by Ruddell, the lone Don hit by Ray Patterson, and a hit batsman.

But the next batter, catcher Lee Williams, hit into a quick first-to-home-to-first double play. The win put the Lancers into the semi-finals Tuesday against surprising Santa Fe, a 4-2 winner over Camarillo.

INDY DRIVERS AWAITING A-OK FROM WEATHERMAN TODAY

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI) — With a green light from the weatherman, qualifications for the 500-mile auto race get under way today, a week behind schedule, thereby heralding the most hectic two days of the speedway preliminaries.

The weather forecast calls for fair and warmer, with only a 5 per cent or less chance for rain.

The same cast of characters who sat around in gloom last weekend, when rain washed the first weekend of the trials down the drain for the first time in modern race history, will be shooting for the 33 starting positions, but A. J. Foyt has replaced Mario Andretti as the charger to beat for the pole position.

Foyt, the three-time race winner from Houston, hurtled his orange-colored racer around the 2½-mile oval earlier this week at an unofficial practice record of 172.315 miles per hour to grab the spotlight—the same afternoon Andretti demolished his low-slung Lotus-Ford in a spectacular fiery crash when the hub of his right rear wheel broke.

While Andretti also could not be ignored for the pole in a back up car he drove to victory in a 200-mile race at Hanford, Calif., last month, Foyt is now generally conceded the edge for the inside position in the front row on Memorial day—the spot he won in 1965.

Others expected to be among the fastest qualifiers today include Gordon Johncock, Dan Gurney, Wallyallenbach, Lloyd Ruby, Art Pollard and Roger McCluskey.

Forty-four cars, a season high, made practice runs Friday under partly cloudy skies and near ideal racing conditions. Foyt logged the fastest unofficial speed at 171.421 mph. In the 169 mph bracket were Johncock, Andretti and Jim McElreath.

In the day's only incident, Pollard spun twice in the southwest turn without contact with the wall.

Milady Top Race in Nation

It will be ladies day at the nation's thoroughbred tracks today in three of the six headline races, including the Milady Handicap at Hollywood Park.

The $30,000-added, 1 1/16-mile Milady features the day's card, with the Top Flight at Aqueduct, a 1 1/4-mile event, and the $15,000-added, six-furlong Campanile Handicap at Golden Gate Fields.

Virginia horseman William Haggin Perry, whose mares and fillies have dominated their division for the past three seasons at Hollywood, presents more strong entries in the Milady.

Trainer Jim Maloney entered two of Perry's stars, Morgaise and Desert Law, posing a challenge to seven other horses set to run.

Foster 4-1

Choice in TV Title Go

WEST SPRINGFIELD, Mass. (AP) — Bob Foster, the rangy slugger who holds the world light heavyweight boxing title, is a prohibitive 4-1 favorite to polish off Andy Kendall, the challenger from Portland, Ore., this afternoon for his 14th successive victory.

The 6-foot-3 1/2 inch champ will tower over the 5-10 challenger and will have almost a 10-inch reach advantage in reach to add sting and cutting power to his accurate left jab.

The 15-round match will be beamed across the nation on ABC's Wide World of Sports, which starts at 5 p.m. PDT.

Nobody knows how many will show up at the Eastern States Coliseum, but promoter Vito Tallarita hopes to draw 5,000 and a gate of some $60,000. The champ gets 40 per cent and Kendall 20 per cent with a guarantee of $11,000.

The three-knockdown rule has been waived by the Massachusetts Boxing Commission. The mandatory eight-count, 10-point must scoring and disqualification rules will be in effect.

Kendall is a relative unknown although he is ranked the No. 1 challenger by the World Boxing Assn. Given up for dead of shotgun wounds in 1967, he has made a remarkable comeback. His record is 24-3-5 with 10 knockouts. He was stopped once, by Eddie Cotton in 1965.

HIGH WEIGHT at 120 pounds will be Miss Ribot.

A Michigan-bred 4-year-old, she won five stakes last year. Ismael Valenzuela is the rider.

Others entered were Hooplal, Pacific Cross, Luz Del Sol, Third Market, Summer Sorrow and Peggy's World.

Garden State features the $40,000-added, 1 1/4-mile Camden Handicap, Suffolk Downs offers the $35,000-added John R. Macomber Memorial Handicap over 1 1/4 miles on the turf, and Arlington Park offers the $25,000-added, six-furlong Marshall Field Memorial Handicap.

Six have been entered for the Top Flight with Heartland the favorite over Amerigo Lady, who won the event last year.

THE BIG Exacta again paid off in box car numbers at Garden State Park Friday just as it did Thursday and was worth $10,155.40 for each winning $2 ticket. There were 10 of them.

Thursday the payoff was $9,278.20.

Majestic Prince continued at a leisurely pace Friday to prepare for the June 7th running of the $125,000-added Belmont Stakes and a chance to sweep the Triple Crown but arch-rival Arts and Letters started more intensive conditioning.

With trainer Johnny Longden now on hand to supervise the preparation of the Kentucky Derby and Preakness winner, Majestic Prince was taken on a walking tour of the Belmont Park track.

Only when going through the front stretch on the 1 1/4-mile track did Longden, who also exercises the colt, let Majestic Prince break into an easy canter.

INDY DRIVERS AWAITING A-OK FROM WEATHERMAN TODAY

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI) — With a green light from the weatherman, qualifications for the 500-mile auto race get under way today, a week behind schedule, thereby heralding the most hectic two days of the speedway preliminaries.

The weather forecast calls for fair and warmer, with only a 5 per cent or less chance for rain.

The same cast of characters who sat around in gloom last weekend, when rain washed the first weekend of the trials down the drain for the first time in modern race history, will be shooting for the 33 starting positions, but A. J. Foyt has replaced Mario Andretti as the charger to beat for the pole position.

Foyt, the three-time race winner from Houston, hurled his orange-colored racer around the 2½-mile oval earlier this week at an unofficial practice record of 172.315 miles per hour to grab the spotlight—the same afternoon Andretti demolished his low-slung Lotus-Ford in a spectacular fiery crash when the hub of his right rear wheel broke.

While Andretti also could not be ignored for the pole in a back up car he drove to victory in a 200-mile race at Hanford, Calif., last month, Foyt is now generally conceded the edge for the inside position in the front row on Memorial day—the spot he won in 1965.

Others expected to be among the fastest qualifiers today include Gordon Johncock, Dan Gurney, Wally Dallenbach, Lloyd Ruby, Art Pollard and Roger McCluskey.

Forty-four cars, a season high, made practice runs Friday under partly cloudy skies and near ideal racing conditions. Foyt logged the fastest unofficial speed at 171.421 mph. In the 169 mph bracket were Johncock, Andretti and Jim McElreath.

In the day's only incident, Pollard spun twice in the southwest turn without contact with the wall.

FANFARE Milady Top Race in Nation

It will be ladies day at the nation's thoroughbred tracks today in three of the six headline races, including the Milady Handicap at Hollywood Park.

The $30,000-added, 11-16-mile Milady features the day's card, with the Top Flight at Aqueduct, a 1½-mile event, and the $15,000-added, six-furlong Campanile Handicap at Golden Gate Fields.

Virginia horseman William Haggin Perry, whose mares and fillies have dominated their division for the past three seasons at Hollywood, presents more strong entries in the Milady.

Trainer Jim Maloney entered two of Perry's stars, Morgaise and Desert Law, posing a challenge to seven other horses set to run.

HIGH WEIGHT at 120 pounds will be Miss Ribot. A Michigan-bred 4-year-old, she won five stakes last year. Ismael Valenzuela is the rider.

Others entered were Hoopliah, Pacific Cross, Luz Del Sol, Third Market, Summer Sorrow and Peggy's World.

Garden State features the $40,000-added, 1½-mile Camden Handicap, Suffolk Downs offers the $35,000-added John R. Macomber Memorial Handicap over 1½ miles on the turf, and Arlington Park offers the $25,000-added, six-furlong Marshall Field Memorial Handicap.

Six have been entered for the Top Flight with Heartland the favorite over Amerigo Lady, who won the event last year.

THE BIG Exacta again paid off in box car numbers at Garden State Park Friday just as it did Thursday and was worth $10,156.40 for each winning $2 ticket. There were 10 of them.

Thursday the payoff was $9,278.20.

Majestic Prince continued at a leisurely pace Friday to prepare for the June 7th running of the $125,000-added Belmont Stakes and a chance to sweep the Triple Crown but arch-rival Arts and Letters started more intensive conditioning.

With trainer Johnny Longden now on hand to supervise the preparation of the Kentucky Derby and Preakness winner, Majestic Prince was taken on a walking tour of the Belmont Park track.

Only when going through the front stretch on the 1½-mile track did Longden, who also exercises the colt, let Majestic Prince break into an easy canter.

Readers Offer Different Reactions to Black Demands for 'Reparations'

Here are reactions by readers to the demand by black militant James Forman that the churches pay "reparations" for the historic injustices to the American Negro.

Dear Editor:

When your local church is invaded by those demanding reparations, why not consider this as an opportunity, not something from which to cringe, retaliate, or even to defend your position and past policies. Remember that LOVE is our most important product. Not only is our merchandise good, but it is effective. Properly used, we can turn a potential disaster into a glorious victory. The obvious issue, reparations, is of negligible significance, but the crucial matter is the fact that souls are at stake and our reaction may be the deciding factor for their eternal destiny.

Take as a guiding scripture the Sermon on the Mount, Mt. 5:38-48, particularly vs. 40-41, and if any man will sue thee at the law, and take away thy coat, let him have thy coat also, and whosoever shall compel thee to go a mile, go with him twain.

We are in an impregnable position to bless these people as they invade our churches; imagine a small army of Christians who can unite to show Christ's overwhelming love in a most unforgettable way. My suggestions for handling the situation in accordance with the preceding scriptures, would include some combination of the following: polite listening to their complaints, singing songs of praise, taking a special collection, witnessing of Christ's love for them, praying for their souls' salvation and inviting them back.

Ridiculous? Impractical? Admittedly so — not one church in 100 would be flexible enough or would desire to do this. But is it too far-fetched to believe that God allowed them to invade your sanctuary so that you could bless them by your witness?

We must ask ourselves what are we trying to do — are we trying to be right? Nothing is more damaging to our Christian testimony than our trying to be right and demanding our rights from others. Christian life is that we go beyond what is right, and that our only obligation is to give.

If we deal with the dreaded imposters on their level, it is only too plain that our faith has taught us nothing. But with God's foolishness supplanting our own wisdom (1 Cor. 1:25), and with Christ's love in us we are equipped to love the unloved and the unlovely, and then we can expect great results.

ED SCHULTZ
Long Beach

Dear Sir:

Has any demand been made that these black militants repay the damage caused by the rioting at Howard, Cornell, and City College of New York? This should come first. The 60 black New Orleans clergymen who reject the idea of reparations are the leaders that should be co-operated with.

ALICE M. ARNESON
Seal Beach

Dear Editor:

Since I am not, currently, in the power structure of any of the denominations I can say with impunity, HOOORAY! for the National Black Economic Development Conference. And also congratulations to the United Presbyterians for at least being willing to talk and listen to what the representatives had to say.

So IF the church really believes in mission — into all the world to preach the Gospel-Mark 16: 15 — And IF the churches have large holdings in Latin America, WHY NOT turn them over to be used as mission projects?

If the churches have land that could be used as low income housing sites, WHY NOT use them for that purpose? IF the churches have factories,

PENTECOST MESSAGE

"For the first time in history we see the oneness of mankind as an inescapable mandate," the presidents of the World Council of Churches declare in their 1969 Pentecost message.

"The Holy Spirit, active and surprising as ever, led us into new understandings of his gifts to the Church: we discovered anew Christ's purpose to bring people of all times, of all races, of all places, of all conditions into an organic and living unity in Him, by the Holy Spirit under the universal fatherhood of God."

The message will be read Sunday throughout the world by the Council's 235 member churches. Pentecost Sunday comes seven weeks (50 days) after Easter. It marks the event described in the second chapter of the Book of Acts when the Holy Spirit promised by Jesus descended on a small group of followers. According to the book of Acts, 3,000 converts were won that day by the preaching of Peter.

Anniversary Speaker

First Baptist Church's celebration of its 75th anniversary will be climaxed Sunday at the 11 a.m. services, featuring one of the West's noted preachers, Dr. Harold L. Fickett Jr., pastor of First Baptist of Van Nuys.

Since Dr. Fickett came to the "Valley" church in 1959, the membership has increased by 4,270, making it the largest Baptist church west of Texas with 7,970 members. The church sponsors a nationally known program for the deaf, a blind group, a Senior Citizens program, and elementary day school of 380 students, a bookstore, and a camp and conference grounds in the mountains.

Readers Offer Different Reactions to Black Demands for 'Reparations'

Here are reactions by readers to the demand by black militant James Forman that the churches pay "reparations" for the historic injustices to the American Negro.

Dear Editor: When your local church is invaded by those demanding reparations, why not consider this as an opportunity, not something from which to cringe, retaliate, or even to defend your position and past policies. Remember that LOVE is our most important product. Not only is our merchandise good, but it is effective. Properly used, we can turn a potential disaster into a glorious victory. The obvious issue, reparations, is of negligible significance, but the crucial matter is the fact that souls are at stake and our reaction may be the deciding factor for their eternal destiny.

Take as a guiding scripture the Sermon on the Mount, Mt. 5:38-48, particularly vs. 40-41, "and if any man will sue thee at the law, and take away thy coat, let him have thy cloak also, and whosoever shall compel thee to go a mile, go with him twain."

We are in an impregnable position to bless these people as they invade our churches; imagine a small army of Christians who can unite to show Christ's overwhelming love in a most unforgettable way. My suggestions for handling the situation in accordance with the preceding scriptures, would include some combination of the following: public listening to their complaints, singing songs of praise, taking a special collection, witnessing of Christ's love for them, praying for their souls' salvation and inviting them back.

Ridiculous? Impractical? Admittedly so — not one church in 100 would be flexible enough or would desire to do this. But is it too far-fetched to believe that God allowed them to invade your sanctuary so that you could bless them by your witness?

We must ask ourselves what are we trying to do — are we trying to be right? Nothing is more damaging to our Christian testimony than our trying to be right and demanding our rights from others. Christian life is that we go beyond what is right, and that our only obligation is to give.

If we deal with the dreaded imposters on their level, it is only too plain that our faith has taught us nothing. But with God's foolishness supplanting our own wisdom (1 Cor. 1:25), and with Christ's love in us we are equipped to love the unloved and the unlovely, and then we can expect great results.

ED SCHULTZ
Long Beach
Dear Sir: Has any demand been made that these black militants repay the damage caused by the rioting at Howard, Cornell, and City College of New York? This should come first. The 60 black New Orleans clergymen who reject the idea of reparations are the leaders that should be cooperated with.

ALICE M. ARNESON
Seal Beach

Dear Editor: Since I am not, currently, in the power structure of any of the denominations I can say with impunity, HOORAY! for the National Black Economic Development Conference. And also congratulations to the United Presbyterians for at least being willing to talk and listen to what the representatives had to say.

So IF the church really believes in mission — into all the world to preach the Gospel-Mark 16: 15 — And IF the churches have large holdings in Latin America, WHY NOT turn them over to be used as mission projects?

If the churches have land that could be used as low income housing sites, WHY NOT use them for that purpose? IF the churches have factories,

PENTECOST MESSAGE

"For the first time in history we see the oneness of mankind as an inescapable mandate," the presidents of the World Council of Churches declare in their 1969 Pentecost message.

"The Holy Spirit, active and surprising as ever, led us into new understandings of his gifts to the Church: we discovered anew Christ's purpose to bring people of all times, of all races, of all places, of all conditions into an organic and living unity in Him, by the Holy Spirit under the universal fatherhood of God."

The message will be read Sunday throughout the world by the Council's 235 member churches. Pentecost Sunday comes seven weeks (50 days) after Easter. It marks the event described in the second chapter of the Book of Acts when the Holy Spirit promised by Jesus descended on a small group of followers. According to the book of Acts, 3,000 converts were won that day by the preaching of Peter.

A long-time close friend and associate of Long Beach First Baptist pastor Dr. Frank M. Kepner, he will speak on "Service above Self."

Lakewood Temple Will Break Ground

Groundbreaking ceremonies Sunday at 1 p.m. will mark start of construction of Lakewood's first synagogue. The Temple Beth Zion congregation has been meeting for the past 15 years at former realty sales offices at the site, 6440 Del Amo Blvd.

The $300,000 project will include the sanctuary, educational unit, social hall and offices. J. Richard Shelley is architect, and William J. O'Brien general contractor, both of Long Beach.

The pastor was educated at Baylor University, Southern Baptist Seminary in Louisville, Eastern Baptist Theological Seminary, did graduate work at Princeton Theological Seminary and was awarded a degree from Wheaton College.

During World War II he took part in the battles of Iwo Jima and Okinawa as an attack transport

Unitarians Will Burn the Mortgage

CONFIDENT LIVING

Pitcher's Wisdom Good for Anyone

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

Some articles appear on sports pages about baseball being in decline, that the great old American game is in the wane. Well, it's not waning with this writer. I am a lifelong baseball fan. And I get a lot more out of it than just pleasure.

The greats of baseball are impressive men. Conversations with some of them about problems on the ball field give good pointers on handling trouble anywhere in life.

When I was a young boy there were two outstanding pitchers whom I worshipped from afar: Christy Mathewson and Cy Young. Many years later at a meeting in Cleveland I was introduced to a tall elderly man addressed as Cy Young. Awestruck, I exclaimed, "You're not the Cy Young?"

With Olympian calm he replied, "I'm Cy Young."

Eager to ask all sorts of questions, I began, "Mr. Young . . ."

He interrupted, "Call me Cy."

The idea of calling such a legendary hero by his nickname — really staggered me, but I managed it. And I said, "If I'm not mistaken, your pitching record was the greatest made by anybody in your day."

"THAT'S RIGHT," he said. There was no false modesty about him. After all he had achieved in 20 odd seasons on the mound a tally of 511 victories to 313 losses. He had five strike-outs to his credit for every two men walked. He had pitched three no-hitters, the third when he was 41. That was also the year he received a silver cup inscribed, "From the ball players of the American League to show their appreciation of Cy Young as a man and as a ball player."

I asked him, "What do you think of the pitchers of today?"

"Some of these boys are pretty good," he answered, "but some are not made of the stuff we were. Now a modern pitcher — suppose he pitches the whole game, what do they do? They give him four days' rest before he pitches again. Why, in my day they kept us pitching! Many a time I pitched the whole game three afternoons in a row!"

"Then, you know," he continued, "when one of these modern pitchers gets into trouble the manager rushes out and the other players close in and they have a huddle and ask how he is. Then maybe they take him out and put somebody else in. Sometimes they'll put in three or four pitchers in one game. In my day when you got into trouble the manager never even came out. He just sat on the bench with his face turned away from you. You were absolutely on your own. The only thing you could do was pitch your way out of trouble. And they left you there till you did." What a phrase! Just "pitch your way out of trouble." That is good for anyone, in any job.

"But," I said, "a pitcher's either in form or off his form, isn't he? What about when you were off your form?"

"Why, that's easy," said Cy Young. "You just keep pitching till you got back in form."

Now perhaps these words of a great athlete would scarcely be called profound, but there is wisdom in them worth remembering. The point is very simple — very fundamental. And in present-day America there is widespread disregard for fundamentals.

Our spectacular technological advances and unparalleled prosperity have made living in this country easier than ever before for more people. Under the influence of soft living or utopian theories, or both, many people seem to look upon arduous effort as something a smart person avoids whenever possible. There are even some who suggest that the element of struggle in human life is not good.

GOINGS ON

George Beverly (Dev) Shea, soloist with evangelist Billy Graham, accompanied by Tedd Smith, Graham's pianist, will present a sacred music concert Monday, 8 p.m. in Anaheim Convention Center, with all seats free and a freewill offering accepted for the Graham Crusade Sept. 26-Oct. 5. . . The three Sherlock Sisters, well known local recording and singing stars of the '50s, who still make beautiful music together, star in the final benefit performance of "The Swinging Years" tonight at 8 in St. Joseph's Catholic Church, Palo Verde and Willow. . . A "giant youth rally" will be held tonight in Torrance High School, 2200 Carson Ave., sponsored by Bible Baptist Church, featuring The Victors Quartet and other music, and speaker Jack Baskin, young missionary to Korea.

The third annual Huntington Beach Rotary Club Church Choir Festival, featuring patriotic and religious music, will be held Sunday, 3:30 p.m. in Huntington Beach High School. . . Rev. Wayne C. Hartmire Jr., director of the California Migrant Ministry, will address the Orange County Interfaith Committee on Social Concern Sunday, 7:30 p.m. in Mount Calvary Lutheran, Valley View and Ball Road, Cypress. . . A missionary conference Monday through Friday at 7 p.m. will be presented at Excelsior Drive Baptist, 11042 Excelsior Drive, Norwalk, featuring Jack Baskin, missionary to Korea, now assistant director of missions at Bible Baptist College of Missouri. There will be music and a nursery. . . The Tuesday lecture on reincarnation in the "Cosmic in Your Consciousness" series by Henry Mayday has been shifted to Villa Riviera, 800 E. Ocean Blvd.

Noted soloists Sara McFerrin, William Oockhead and Thomas Cleveland will be featured in a concert of sacred choral works Sunday, 8 p.m. in First Presbyterian of San Pedro, Eighth and Averill. Mrs. McFerrin starred in Broadway productions of "Lost in the Stars" and "Porgy and Bess."

ter times of trouble when your chances of getting a successful outcome depend on your willingness to give it intensive thinking and sustained exertion.

And of course it often happens that you just do not feel up to it. But you can work yourself up to it if you've got what it takes.

PRIME TIME RELIGION OFFERED FREE

'Must Also Entertain to Hold People' Basis of TV Success

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

Parents, pastors and public officials often lament that prime-time television is so steeped in glamorized violence, cheapened sex and shoddy motives that it is undercutting ethical standards, and they ask why more mature insights into such issues can't be presented with just as much popular appeal.

In fact, this is being done by a small, independently organized agency, the Episcopal Radio-TV Foundation of Atlanta, Ga., whose trenchant televised productions dominate the religiously oriented shows currently singled out by experts as superior.

"It's a matter of maintaining the delicate balance between professional entertainment values and theological substance," says Caroline Rakestraw, the foundation's executive director.

"It's not easy. It's easy to do merely religious shows, real easy. But you lose your audience. To hold them, a program also must be strongly entertaining."

OF THE SIX Emmy Award nominations for religiously based television programs in the past year, four are productions of the Atlanta agency. It's the first time a single religious-type production operation has claimed such a large share of nominations by the National Academy of Television Arts and Sciences in the category of outstanding cultural documentaries.

"Our aim is to present timeless truth in a dramatic contemporary way that will command mass audience viewing hours," Mrs. Rakestraw said.

Accomplishing that objective long has been the dream of religious leaders, who have eyed television as a potential means of communicating faith to millions outside the reach of church or synagogue. But in practical terms, the aspiration has not been generally realized, with religion usually relegated to Sunday morning or other limited-audience periods.

"But it can be done," Mrs. Rakestraw said in an interview. She maintains that the main reason it generally is not done is that shows with religious content ordinarily lack sufficient entertainment elements to rate prime time.

"There's an almost total absence of religious programs during the heavy viewing hours," she said. "But programs dealing with religious issues—basically are the main human issues—can qualify for the top periods, if they really entertain. We've proved that in major markets across the country."

THE SERIES drawing the several citations by the National Academy is called "One Reach One," a title based on the idea of each person's responsibility for conveying truth to his fellow man. All the half-hour programs deal with crucial moral-spiritual issues of the day.

One thing they seek strictly to avoid is "preachiness."

"We don't want to foist ideas on people, but simply to draw them through introspection to examine their own lives in the light of truth and in the light of real conditions," Mrs. Rakestraw said.

Specific works cited by the Academy include two parts of the series, "Love in a Sexy Society," dealing with contemporary sex mores and choices young people face; "The Endless Thread," dealing with the breakdown of communications in modern families; the series in its entirety, and the host on it, actor Ralph Bellamy.

Other religious programs cited are "Ecce Homo," produced by Doris Ann of the National Broadcasting Company, for the Southern Baptist Hour, and "Rembrandt and the Bible," produced by Aram Boyajian, on the American Broadcasting Company's Sunday program, "Directions."

RALPH BELLAMY, CAROLINE RAKESTRAW
Religious Themes Can Be Entertaining

MANY OF the 41 nominees in the cultural-documentary category, of which winners are to be named June 9, were turned out on multimillion-dollar budgets, but the Atlanta foundation produces each show for about $45,000.

However, it hires completely professional crews, script writers, actors, technicians. The foundation, supported by voluntary contributions, offers its program free to individual stations, insisting on prime or near-prime time. Local church councils often act as area sponsors.

CONFIDENT LIVING

Pitcher's Wisdom Good for Anyone

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

Some articles appear on sports pages about baseball being in decline, that the great old American game is in the wane. Well, it's not waning with this writer. I am a lifelong baseball fan. And I get a lot more out of it than just pleasure.

The greats of baseball are impressive men. Conversations with some of them about problems on the ball field give good pointers on handling trouble anywhere in life.

When I was a young boy there were two outstanding pitchers whom I worshipped from afar: Christy Mathewson and Cy Young. Many years later at a meeting in Cleveland I was introduced to a tall elderly man addressed as Cy Young. Awestruck, I exclaimed, "You're not the Cy Young?"

With Olympian calm he replied, "I'm Cy Young."

Eager to ask all sorts of questions, I began, "Mr. Young . . ."

He interrupted, "Call me Cy."

The idea of calling such a legendary hero by his nickname — Cy for cyclone — really staggered me, but I managed it. And I said, "If I'm not mistaken, your pitching record was the greatest made by anybody in your day."

"THAT'S RIGHT," he said. There was no false modesty about him. After all, he had achieved in 20 odd seasons on the mound a tally of 511 victories to 313 losses. He had five strike-outs to his credit for every two men walked. He had pitched three no-hitters, the third when he was 41. That was also the year he received a silver cup inscribed, "From the ball players of the American League to show their appreciation of Cy Young as a man and as a ball player."

I asked him, "What do you think of the pitchers of today?"

"Some of these boys are pretty good," he answered, "but some are not made of the stuff we were. Now a modern pitcher — suppose he pitches the whole game, what do they do? They give him four days' rest before he pitches again. Why, in my day they kept us pitching! Many a time I pitched the whole game three afternoons in a row!

"Then, you know," he continued, "when one of these modern pitchers gets into trouble the manager rushes out and the other players close in and they have a huddle and ask how he is. Then maybe they take him out and put somebody else in. Sometimes they'll put in three or four pitchers in one game. In my day when you got into trouble the manager never even came out. He just sat on the bench with his face turned away from you. You were absolutely on your own. The only thing you could do was pitch your way out of trouble. And they left you there till you did." What a phrase! Just "pitch your way out of trouble." That is good for anyone, in any job.

"But," I said, "a pitcher's either in form or off his form, isn't he? What about when you were off your form?"

"Why, that's easy," said Cy Young. "You just keep pitching till you got back in form."

Now perhaps these words of a great athlete would scarcely be called profound, but there is wisdom in them worth remembering. The point is very simple — very fundamental. And in present-day America there is widespread disregard for fundamentals.

Our spectacular technological advances and unparalleled prosperity have made living in this country easier than ever before for more people. Under the influence of soft living or utopian theories, or both, many people seem to look upon arduous effort as something a smart person avoids whenever possible. There are even some who suggest that the element of struggle in human life is not good.

IN ANYTHING you do you are bound to encounter

GOINGS ON

George Beverly (Bev) Shea, soloist with evangelist Billy Graham, accompanied by Tedd Smith, Graham's pianist, will present a sacred music concert. Monday, 8 p.m. in Anaheim Convention Center, with all seats free and a freewill offering accepted for the Graham Crusade Sept. 26-Oct. 5. . . The three Sherlock Sisters, well known local recording and singing stars of the '50s, who still make beautiful music together, star in the final benefit performance of "The Swinging Years" tonight at 8 in St. Joseph's Catholic Church, Palo Verde and Willow. . . A "giant youth rally" will be held tonight in Torrance High School, 2200 Carson Ave., sponsored by Bible Baptist Church, featuring The Victors Quartet and other music, and speaker Jack Baskin, young missionary to Korea.

The third annual Huntington Beach Rotary Club Church Choir Festival, featuring patriotic and religious music, will be held Sunday, 3:30 p.m. in Huntington Beach High School. . . Rev. Wayne C. Hartmire Jr., director of the California Migrant Ministry, will address the Orange County Interfaith Committee on Social Concern Sunday, 7:30 p.m. in Mount Calvary Lutheran, Valley View and Ball Road, Cypress. . . A missionary conference Monday through Friday at 7 p.m. will be presented at Excelsior Drive Baptist, 11042 Excelsior Drive, Norwalk, featuring Jack Baskin, missionary to Korea, now assistant director of missions at Bible Baptist College of Missouri. There will be music and a nursery. . . The Tuesday lecture on reincarnation in the "Cosmic in Your Consciousness" series by Henry Mayday has been shifted to Villa Riviera, 800 E. Ocean Blvd.

Noted soloists Sara McFerrin, William Ockhead and Thomas Cleveland will be featured in a concert of sacred choral works Sunday, 8 p.m. in First Presbyterian of San Pedro, Eighth and Averill. Mrs. McFerrin starred in Broadway productions of "Lost in the Stars" and "Porgy and Bess."

ter times of trouble when your chances of getting a successful outcome depend on your willingness to give it intensive thinking and sustained exertion.

And of course it often happens that you just do not feel up to it. But you can work yourself up to it if you've got what it takes.

PRIME TIME RELIGION OFFERED FREE

'Must Also Entertain to Hold People' Basis of TV Success

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

Parents, pastors and public officials often lament that prime-time television is so steeped in glamorized violence, cheapened sex and shoddy motives that it is undercutting ethical standards, and they ask why more mature insights into such issues can't be presented with just as much popular appeal.

In fact, this is being done by a small, independently organized agency, the Episcopal Radio-TV Foundation of Atlanta, Ga., whose trenchant televised productions dominate the religiously oriented shows currently singled out by experts as superior.

"It's a matter of maintaining the delicate balance between professional entertainment values and theological substance," says Caroline Rakestraw, the foundation's executive director.

"It's not easy. It's easy to do merely religious shows, real easy. But you lose your audience. To hold them, a program also must be strongly entertaining."

OF THE SIX Emmy Award nominations for religiously based television programs in the past year, four are productions of the Atlanta agency. It's the first time a single religious-type production operation has claimed such a large share of nominations by the National Academy of Television Arts and Sciences in the category of outstanding cultural documentaries.

"Our aim is to present timeless truth in a dramatic contemporary way that will command mass audience viewing hours," Mrs. Rakestraw said.

Accomplishing that objective long has been the dream of religious leaders, who have eyed television as a potential means of communicating faith to millions outside the reach of church or synagogue. But in practical terms, the aspiration has not been generally realized, with religion usually relegated to Sunday morning or other limited-audience periods.

"But it can be done," Mrs. Rakestraw said in an interview. She maintains that the main reason it generally is not done is that shows with religious content ordinarily lack sufficient entertainment elements to rate prime time.

"There's an almost total absence of religious programs during the heavy viewing hours," she said. "But programs dealing with religious issues—basically are the main human issues—can qualify for the top periods, if they really entertain. We've proved that in major markets across the country."

THE SERIES drawing the several citations by the National Academy is called "One Reach One," a title based on the idea of each person's responsibility for conveying truth to his fellow man. All the half-hour programs deal with crucial moral-spiritual issues of the day.

One thing they seek strictly to avoid is "preachiness."

"We don't want to foist ideas on people, but simply to draw them through introspection to examine their own lives in the light of truth and in the light of real conditions," Mrs. Rakestraw said.

Specific works cited by the Academy include two parts of the series, "Love

RALPH BELLAMY, CAROLINE RAKESTRAW
Religious Themes Can Be Entertaining

in a Sexy Society," dealing with contemporary sex mores and choices young people face; "The Endless Thread," dealing with the breakdown of communications in modern families; the series in its entirety, and the host on it, actor Ralph Bellamy.

Other religious programs cited are "Ecce Homo," produced by Doris Ann of the National Broadcasting Company, for the Southern Baptist Hour, and "Rembrandt and the Bible," produced by Aram Boyajian, on the American Broadcasting Company's Sunday program, "Directions."

MANY OF the 41 nominees in the cultural documentary category, of which winners are to be named June 9, were turned out on multimillion-dollar budgets, but the Atlanta foundation produces each show for about $45,000.

However, it hires completely professional crews, script writers, actors, technicians. The foundation, supported by voluntary contributions, offers its program free to individual stations, insisting on prime or near-prime time. Local church councils often act as area sponsors.

Ora Williams Guest at Grant Women's Day

Miss R. Ora Williams, assistant professor of English at Long Beach City College, and a widely published writer who has been listed in "Who's Who in American Education," will be guest speaker at the 11 a.m. service Sunday for the annual Women's Day Program at Grant Chapel A.M.E. Church, 1129 Alamitos Ave.

The theme for the day, to which all are invited by the women of Grant Chapel, with Mrs. Vernon W. Stokes as the day's chairman, is "Women Growing Together in Christ."

Miss Williams, a graduate of Virginia Union and Howard, who studied further at Columbia, NYU and UC-Berkeley, has been a program adviser for the national office of Camp Fire Girls for the past three years.

Demands in Boston in '68, New Amity at Seattle, '69

By LES RODNEY

American Baptists who were at the Seattle convention report some interesting developments. Most dramatic, of course, was the historic election of a black Baptist as president. Rev. Dr. Thomas Kilgore Jr., pastor of Second Baptist in the Watts area, has been a leading figure in the denomination's national affairs for years, and just completed a term as Western head of the Home Mission Societies. He received 1,200 votes out of a total of 1,246 cast.

Even before the election of Dr. Kilgore, the Baptists became aware of a new tone in their relationship with the black churchmen, who startled everyone last year in Boston by organizing formally to secure a greater participation in the 6,200-church organization.

"Last year," an observer pointed out, "the blacks were making demands. This year they're saying, come let us worship together."

One night the black churchmen led the assembly in a service emphasizing the "black idiom in worship," Dr. Kilgore explained the next day.

"We wanted you to hear the way black people sing. We wanted you to be stirred by the strength of black preaching. We wanted you to feel the power of prayer as we feel it in our black churches."

The spirit of common worship at Seattle would have been impossible without the demands at Boston, according to Dr. Kilgore. "We had to say what was in our hearts," he said. "Now we can truly worship together, in a convention that is truly American."

THERE WAS less unity on some of the convention's resolutions, with a general conservative trend asserting itself. In a key vote, by a margin of 700 to 820 (in a total of 2,416 delegates), it amended a statement on arms control to delete condemnation of the ABM, which had been proposed by the resolutions committee. The resolution, as adopted, calls only for opposition to the "continuing arms race."

The non-voting by as many as 1,106 delegates on this resolution, is interpreted as reflecting a) the feeling of many that the church should not speak out on such matters, either pro or con, and b) uneasiness, confusion and mixed feelings about the national ABM debate.

SEX EDUCATION note: One third of the nation's Roman Catholic dioceses now have sex education programs in their parochial schools. The Family Life Division of the U.S. Catholic Conference has established a task force on the subject, aiming to enlist more parent support. "Most parents favor sound sex education in the schools," said Rev. James T. McHugh, director of the division, "but many are as yet unable to place their full confidence in some of the programs."

"NOTHING CAN overcome the insult of a gift but the love of the giver," is the trenchant old proverb suggested for thought by Robert K. Knutson, an official of the Lutheran World Federation's Dept. of World Missions.

NOT AGREEING with those who scorn the homely functions of the local church as irrelevant, Mrs. Theodore T. Wallace of Shawnee Mission, Kan., a member of the national Executive Council of the United Church of Christ, told the Southern California Conference at Clare.

"In this disturbing and upset world, one continuing task of the church is to provide the kind of pastoral ministries that persons can find nowhere else. We need a place where we can love and be loved without restraint, where we can withdraw for a brief respite from the struggles of life, where our commitment to Christ can be localized and where the personal events of our lives can be celebrated."

THE MANY FRIENDS of Dr. Emerson G. Hagen (who appeared in the news in connection with the demand for "reparations" at the American Church in Paris) will be interested in the former First Congregational pastor's description of his church in a letter:

"We are having a great time. These are fine people here in the business world and diplomatic and other government services. They have been most gracious to us and have given us a warm welcome into the church and the American community in Paris.

"The church is a magnificent building with a beautiful Parish House. Our apartment is on the fourth floor and we feel as though we are living in a castle. It is completely furnished for us, and from our living room and dining room we overlook the Seine River and watch the ever varying traffic of commercial barges, pleasure boats, and sightseeing boats going up and down the river. We live on the left bank right in the center of the city.

"The church itself is breath-takingly beautiful with a divided chancel and magnificent windows made in Chartres, except for two Tiffany windows. The organ is a very fine instrument which was given by an American, and the organist is a well known organist, composer, and conductor. So our music is of the highest quality.

"The church has long been inter-racial, is inter-denominational, and has a wonderfully loyal corps of members who love the church and serve it most faithfully. This is in addition to their heavy respon-

HE WAS CURIOUS ABOUT HIS FLOCK'S EASTER BELIEFS

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — The minister of a large Protestant church in Minneapolis, curious about his congregation's reaction to Easter and the Easter Sunday service, decided to find out.

Dr. Howard Conn of Plymouth Congregational Church, who was moderator of the National Association of Congregational Churches in 1967 (those who refused to go along with creation of the United Church of Christ), distributed a questionnaire to his congregation two Sundays after Easter, and announced the results in a sermon Sunday.

His findings from 421 persons who returned the questionnaire included the following:

Two hundred twenty-three said the resurrection of Christ was not the cornerstone of their faith; 167 did.

Forty-nine said they believed in the bodily resurrection of Jesus. A total of 150 said they accepted His influence but not His continuing presence, while 186 accepted His spirit "living as the Risen Lord." Eighty-six said they were "uncertain about the detail, but willing to accept it as mystery."

Just 99 said they regarded their beliefs as uniquely Christian, and 158 considered themselves Christian but not in the traditional way.

A total of 150 said they would prefer to have the minister "summarize Christian living in today's society." One hundred eighty-eight preferred a sermon to give them "hope and encouragement." 106 wanted to hear the "essentials of faith."

On Dr. Conn's specific Easter sermon, 58 said it increased their faith, 123 said it challenged them to live better, 135 said it "undergirded their conviction that life is worthwhile," and 28 said it was "sufficiently vague to sound good without saying much."

Asked whether they thought the validity of Christianity rested on a literal resurrection of Christ, 146 said they thought so, but 253 said they did not think so.

Of the 407 persons who indicated their age on the questionnaire, only 84 were age 32 or younger. A total of 108 respondents were over age 65.

First Pastors Assn. Formed

By Associated Press

Formation of the first nationwide, interdenominational association of American pastors has been announced, with the aim of clarifying and strengthening the role of parish ministers.

"The task is crucial to the future of the church," said Rev. Ralph E. Peterson, a mid-Manhattan Lutheran pastor and the first president of the new organization.

It's called "The Academy of Parish Clergy," with headquarters being set up in Minneapolis and with chapters now forming in several states. It's open to clergy of all denominations serving as pastors of congregations. Altogether, there are about 250,000 of them across the country.

Up to now, local pastors have not had a national professional forum for sharing and expressing their ideas, while other clergy groups — theologians, educators, Bible scholars, denominational

"The church has long been inter-racial, is inter-denominational, and has a wonderfully loyal corps of members who love the church and serve it most faithfully. This is in addition to their heavy responsibilities in business, industry, government service, etc.

"... Give my best to all my friends back there."

VIGOROUS AND divergent views can be found in "Christian Advocate," the Methodist bi-weekly for ministers and other church leaders. For instance, the latest issue contains an article by a college chaplain, Jerald C. Walker, assistant professor of religion at Nebraska Wesleyan University, blasting student "anti police and anti-military rhetoric."

It is a big mistake, he writes, for student religious organizations "to view the U.S. military and police establishments as monolithic enemies" and it is erroneous, he adds, to assume that a Christian should not enter a career with either.

He also blasts campus demonstrations against ROTC, saying this generalized hostility to the military "tends to deprive the armed services of many capable career officers and enlisted men whose loyalties and inclinations are solidly democratic."

Since, realistically, he says, we are going to have to have a military establishment for some time, "it is folly" for students and church leaders to "rigidly oppose military service."

"IF YOU ONLY hear one bell, you are only hearing one sound; there are times when one prefers to hear a carillon." So said Leo Cardinal Suenens, a leading Roman Catholic theologian, archbishop of Brussels and the primate of Belgium, in criticizing the Vatican newspaper "L'Osservatore Romano."

He said the paper was doing "a disservice to the cause of the Papacy" with one-sided reporting of church controversies. The cardinal's views were presented in a 13,000-word interview in The Tablet, a Catholic weekly published in London.

He also questioned "archaic customs, procedures, and prohibitions," the way the Pope is chosen, and the Roman Curia. Many of his points have been made by reform-minded Catholics before, but observers noted that no member of the church of such rank and prestige had so summarized the reform aspirations before.

The cardinal made clear that he was not advocating anarchy, but more openness in the church, and more understanding of "genuine human life at the roots." While he appreciated the need of closed doors and secret diplomacy in some cases, he said, "I do not believe in secrecy over pastoral matters, and secrecy in itself serves only to maintain the status quo."

"The church is either a family or it is nothing; and in any family there must be open dialogue if misunderstandings are to be got rid of, and the air cleared."

The cardinal made clear, "It is not the authority of the Pope which is in doubt among faithful sons of the church."

His major attack was on the undiminished power of the Curia. "What is wanted," he said, "is to liberate everyone, even the Holy Father himself, from the system, which has been the subject of complaint for several centuries, and yet we have not succeeded in really loosening its grip or reshaping it. For while Popes come and go, the Curia remains."

He suggested bringing it under the joint direction of the pontiff and them Episcopal College, composed of the bishops.

First Pastors Assn. Formed

By Associated Press

Formation of the first nationwide, interdenominational association of American pastors has been announced, with the aim of clarifying and strengthening the role of parish ministers.

"The task is crucial to the future of the church," said Rev. Ralph E. Peterson, a mid-Manhattan Lutheran pastor and the first president of the new organization.

It's called "The Academy of Parish Clergy," with headquarters being set up in Minneapolis and with chapters now forming in several states. It's open to clergy of all denominations serving as pastors of congregations. Altogether, there are about 250,000 of them across the country.

Up to now, local pastors have not had a national professional forum for sharing and expressing their ideas, while other clergy groups — theologians, educators, Bible scholars, denominational executives — have had various organizational channels for their views.

"The parish is not dead," Rev. Peterson said. "But it needs new forms and images. We're dedicated to the importance of its leadership and the development of new models and patterns by which it can have health and life in this day and age."

MORMON TEMPLE FOR WASHINGTON

This is the approved design for the Washington, D. C. Temple of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints. White marble structure, 16th of the church world, will be erected on 57-acre site near Silver Spring, Md. purchased in 1962 for $850,000. Design "suggests the best known symbol of the church—the Salt Lake Temple, without being a literal copy," officials said.

Double Mission Set for Snoopy

By GEORGE ERES
TV-Radio Editor

"Charlie Brown" and "Snoopy" have been out in space during the week, and the man who lent his characters to the Apollo 10 mission will have a night on Ch. 2 at 8:30 tonight.

The artist-author Charles Schulz and his creations will be seen in animation and live TV combination. The animated version of some 20 of the most popular published "Peanuts" comic strips will be shown and other offerings promised include:

A visit with Schulz in his studio, Vince Guaraldi playing his "Linus and Lucy" theme at the Monterey Jazz Festival; a conversation with Astronaut Walter Schirra; the Royal Guardsmen doing excerpts from their record, "Snoopy and the Red Baron"; Rod McKuen will be heard singing his theme music from the Charlie Brown feature motion picture; and some material from the San Francisco stage presentation of "You're a Good Man, Charlie Brown."

The appeal of the "Peanuts" crew ranges pretty high and wide and the identification with the problems of Schulz's creations is nearing the point of adulation. Couldn't happen to a more amusing group of characters.

On top of all that Schulz touches a common chord in the heart of newspapermen. Schulz used to draw a strip called "L'il Foks" for a St. Paul Newspaper. One day he walked up to his editor and asked for a raise and a daily spot for his strip on the comic page.

The editor fired him, and Schulz went on to fame and fortune.

CATALINA ISLAND is celebrating with a festival and there'll be an hour show on the island's features. Hal and Halla Linker and their son David describe the situation on Ch. 13 at 7:30 p.m.

TELEVISION coverage of the splashdown of Apollo 10 is set for about 9:53 a.m., Monday and the networks will be on the job, starting at 4:30 a.m. when Chs. 4 and 7 have scheduled coverage of the possibly final TV transmission from the lunar craft.

The re-entry and splashdown coverage will start on Chs. 4 and 7 at 9 a.m. and Ch. 2 is scheduled to begin reporting at 9:30 a.m.

RADIO NOTE: "Celebrity Showcase," on KNAC (105.5 FM), at noon today, has a discussion on "Problems and Challenges Facing California State College, Long Beach." Participants include Dr. Leo Goodman-Malamuth, chairman of the Academic Senate; Dr. Donald Simonsen, academic vice president; Dr. George Demos, dean of students and out-going student body president, Rex Gay.

FLEAWEIGHT WINS MORE THAN BOUT

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Nine-year-old Charles E. Williams Jr. was covered with bruises but he won a fleaweight championship bout sponsored and broadcast by KMEX-TV.

But his mother, Mrs. May F. Starks, told a Superior Court commissioner Thursday she didn't give permission for her son to participate in the fight.

Spanish International Broadcasting, operator of the station, was ordered to pay $1,500 damages.

Ex-Queen Skipper 'Still at Sea' Over Official Greeter Job

By JACK O. BALDWIN
Maritime Editor

Capt. J. Treasurer Jones, last skipper of the RMS Queen Mary who delivered the former luxury liner to Long Beach, still has only a handful of promises he will be retained as an "official greeter."

Fred Rosenberg, president of the Diners Club-Queen Mary, confirmed Friday there is "nothing in writing" between his company and the now-retired former captain.

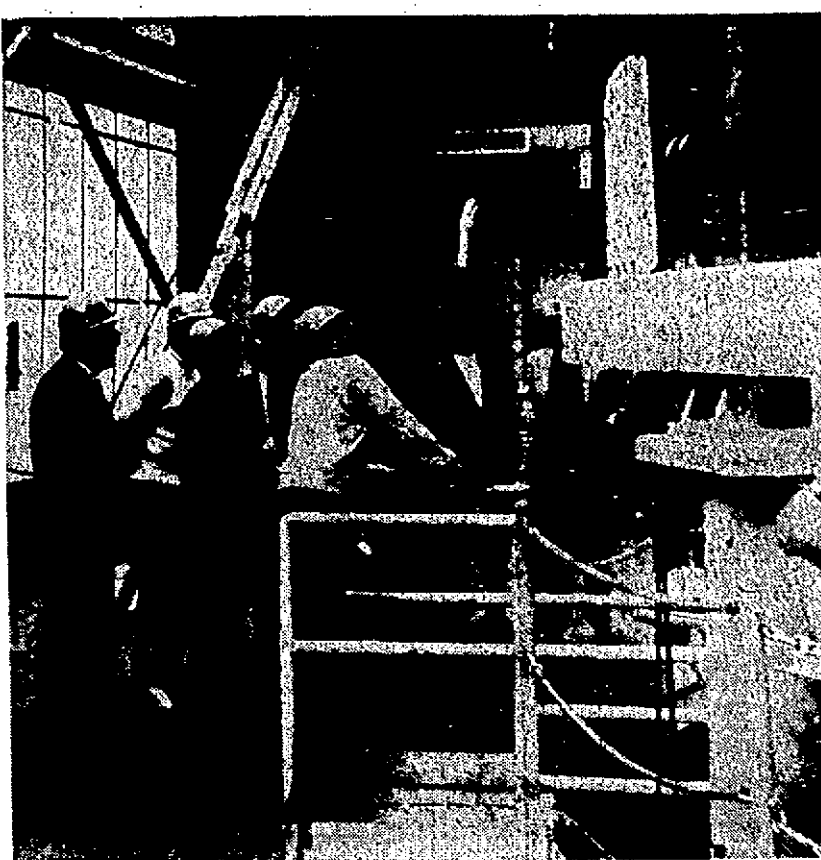

On Sept. 5, 1968 Alfred S. Bloomingdale, chairman of the board of Diners Club, announced his company had made a "deal" with the captain to become the "official greeter and public relations representative" aboard the converted liner when it opens to the public in 1970.

ROSENBERG SAID ANY "DEAL" with the captain would be left to the discretion of the operators of the planned hotel-convention complex aboard the Queen Mary.

A city hall official said the captain had written to say he received "only rumors" he would be brought back to Long Beach as a public relations representative aboard the former Cunard liner.

The captain, he said indicated he has not received or signed any contract with the Diners Club-Queen Mary or any other organization.

Rosenberg said he had approached American Airlines about hiring Jones, but has received no answer "one way or the other."

SPACE AGE CLOSEUP

Area advertising and marketing executives got a look Friday at one of the engines which helped boost America's Apollo 10 on its record-shattering flight during the Independent, Press-Telegram's 44th annual Long Beach Market Tour. The two-day tour for visiting executives and their wives included a visit to North American Rockwell's Seal Beach plant.

Police Foil Courthouse Drug Deal, Nab San Pedro Man

A youth serving a jail term for violating probation on a marijuana conviction was arraigned Friday on a charge of receiving dangerous drugs from a companion in a corridor of Long Beach Courthouse.

Michael Raymond Patrio, 21, of 1242 Elberon Ave., San Pedro, went before Municipal Judge J. Merrill Lilley, who set preliminary hearing for June 3.

Earlier Judge Lilley set the same date for preliminary hearing of Ralph Rodriguez, 24, of 1527 S. Grand Ave., San Pedro, who is charged with furnishing the drugs to Patrio.

The defendants were arrested Wednesday by officers who reported they saw a cellophane packet of eight second capsules passed between them as Patrio awaited his probation hearing.

$2,765 Burglary

Household items valued at $2,765 were taken from the apartment of Nils Nilsson, 1485 Junipero Ave., when burglars forced open a living room window, Long Beach police said Friday.

Second Cerritos Square Assessment Protest Due

From Our L.A. Bureau

A protested $33,500 assessment increase on Cerritos Square Auto Park in Long Beach will come up a second time before the Board of Supervisors June 26.

County Assessor Philip Watson says the present assessed value of $22,000 resulted from a clerical error. Watson says the correct figure is $55,500, based on a market value of $222,000.

Clark Bonner Jr., of Lakewood, appearing before the supervisors last Thursday for the company, held that there was no clerical error and asked for additional time to obtain proof.

Cerritos Square Auto Park Association is at 4250 Long Beach Blvd.

CITY OKS GIANT SLIDE ON TIDELAND PROPERTY

The Pike Amusement Co. has been granted a lease by the Long Beach City Council to use city-owned tideland property in connection with installation of a "giant slide" amusement. The one-year lease will cover a 35-x-137-foot area at the foot of Cedar Walk on a portion of the site formerly occupied by the Cyclone Racer. The company will pay the city $280 a month rent, or six per cent of gross receipts—whichever is greater.

City Opposes PUC Control

On recommendation of the city's Bureau of Franchises, the City Council has voted to oppose Senate Bill No. 1077, which would give the State Public Utilities Commission control over community antenna television companies.

The proposed legislation would permit cities to levy a tax of up to five per cent of gross receipts, but would prohibit them from requiring any license or franchise over such companies.

$1,190 in Loot

Burglars forced open a front window at the home of Philip Cratty, 2130 Clark Ave., and removed a television set, stereo and records valued at $1,190, Long Beach police reported Friday.

Welfare Probe Goes to Watts

A presidential commission examining the country's welfare system and other antipoverty programs moved its study into Watts Friday after an earlier hearing in East Los Angeles.

Commission chairman Henry J. Smith opened the hearings with the statement "we have reviewed existing programs and, frankly, have found them wanting."

Witnesses generally agreed with Mrs. Alicia Escalante, director of the East Los Angeles Welfare Rights Organization the welfare system "is rotten."

"You change it or we will," she asserted after declaring welfare recipients do not get enough in public assistance grants to live decently.

The panel, the President's Commission on Income Maintenance Programs, has held similar hearings in 15 cities and will recommend changes in present income maintenance programs before the end of the year.

Fashion Show, Sale Stated at Park Today

A benefit fashion show — with proceeds to aid youth organizations of the East and North Long Beach Community Centers — will be held at 10:30 a.m. today in Long Beach Recreation Park, 4900 E. 7th St.

More than $8,000 in donated clothes will be modeled for visitors. Following the showing, clothes will be sold at half price, the sponsoring Youth Action Center said.

The fashion show will be commented by Kay Hellman.

FLATTOP SWITCHES SKIPPERS

Capt. Carl J. Seiberlich, left, Friday assumed command of the antisubmarine warfare carrier USS Hornet in ceremonies at Long Beach Naval Shipyard, where the flattop is undergoing repairs. Captain Seiberlich relieved Capt. Jackson A. Stockton, who now reports to the USS Kearsarge where he will serve as chief of staff for Anti-Submarine Warfare Group One. Colorful ceremonies aboard Hornet included massed, white-clad crew at attention and an address by Rear Adm. C. A. Karaberis, commander of Fleet Air, San Diego, who likened antisub activity to effort to land man on moon. Admiral said "75 per cent" of globe is ocean and should be kept free.

$39,160 earmarked to Build Underpass

From Our L.A. Bureau

The county apparently will pay $39,160 for an underpass in the Lakewood area instead of an estimated $30,600, but the 28 per cent difference will provide two extra traffic lanes.

The specifications were changed at the last minute, and contractors had to revise their bids. G. B. Cooke came up with the new low bid to construct the underpass and other improvements on the San Gabriel River riding and hiking trail on Del Amo Blvd.

There will be two lanes on each side of the center divider.

PROGRAM STARTS SUNDAY

Smokers Can Kick Habit

Two Long Beach physicians and a Seventh-day Adventist Church pastor will conduct a "kick-the-habit" program for smokers beginning Sunday.
